DEVELOPING TRADE WITH CHINA

Guaranteed Credits Will Be Given

MR. KIRKPATRICK'S NEW DUTIES IN SHANGHAI

With an extension of British export trade with China in view, the Export Credits Guarantee Department has announced that Mr. William MacCollin Kirkpatrick, Conservative M.P. for Preston, has been appointed its representative in China. Mr. Kirkpatrick, who is resigning his seat, is going to China to act as what is officially described as "man on the spot correspondent" for the Department in assessing credit risks.

It was announced that agreement had been reached in principle on a scheme under which guaranteed credits would be given to China for purchases in Great Britain, much on the lines of the recent Anglo-Russian credit agreement.

Mr. Kirkpatrick has travelled widely, particularly in the Far East, and has undertaken many commercial missions. This is the first occasion that the Export Credits Department has made an appointment of this kind abroad. The object of the new departure, which it is expected, will give British manufacturers, especially in the heavy industries, the opportunity of developing their business with China, was explained in a statement made by Mr. F. H. Nixon, general manager and chief underwriter of the Board, states a Home paper.

The purpose of Mr. Kirkpatrick's appointment was, said Mr. Nixon, to enable a representative of the Department to examine and consider on the spot proposals submitted for its guarantee, to make any detailed investigations, required, and to assist, if necessary, with the negotiations.

"The number of proposals we have received for guarantee recently suggests that home manufacturers are alive to the opportunities in China," Mr. Nixon explained, "but we have been handicapped in assessing credit risks by the rapidity with which conditions in China change."

ROOSEVELT RE-ELECTED

Sweeping Majority

"CONFIDENCE IN THE MAN"

New York, Nov. 4. Although the final results of the elections will not be available for many hours, the indications are that Mr. Roosevelt will secure an unprecedented total of 519 votes of the Electoral College representing forty five out of the forty eight States in the Union compared with Mr. Landon's twelve votes for the three New England States.

Sixteen million votes tabulated in the early hours of the morning showed ten for Mr. Roosevelt and six for Mr. Landon. It is believed that nearly fifty millions voted, constituting a record poll, but the final result is not likely to differ greatly from the present indications.

The Republican "Herald Tribune" describes the election as a great personal triumph and declares that the victory is not for the Democrats but a rising vote of confidence in the man.

GOVERNOR'S PLEA FOR CO-OPERATION

Significant Speeches

Hong Kong took on a festive air yesterday on the occasion of the arrival of the distinguished visitors from Canton; and the City of Victoria had the appearance of celebrating a national holiday. The Union Jack and the Chinese Nationalist flag were flown side by side over all the leading business and shopping establishments as a sign of welcome to His Excellency the Chairman of the Kwangtung Provincial Government and His Honour the Mayor of Canton. Long before the arrival of the visitors, large sections of the Chinese population were grouped outside the Kowloon-Canton railway station and Queen's Pier, while office staffs filled verandah spaces in the main buildings fronting Connaught road central.

The most elaborate arrangements have been made to welcome the distinguished visitors and the Police maintained order in their usual efficient manner. Thousands of foreigners and Chinese crowded as near as possible to the vantage spots to obtain a glimpse of Hong Kong's guests, while at the Kowloon-Canton railway station "Billy," the mascot goat of the Royal Welch Fusiliers, was the centre of attraction as he stood waiting for the Guard of Honour to march in and take its place on the railway platform.

At 11.10 a.m. the Flying Eagle Express drew into the station and immediately a long line of policemen stepped on board the carriages to prevent any of its passengers, from alighting until the official party had left the station.

On the Flying Eagle Express, was Major R. D. Walker, M.C., Manager of the British Section of the Kowloon-Canton Railway, who had boarded it at Sumchun, to greet His Excellency the Chairman of the Kwangtung Provincial Government and His Honour the Mayor of Canton and their parties.

The party was received at Kowloon by Captain W. J. R. Cragg, A.D.C. to the Governor, who presented the Hon. Mr. W. J. Carr, Secretary for Chinese Affairs; the Hon. Cndr. G. F. Hole, Harbour Master; Mr. R. R. Todd, Chairman of the Urban Council; Hon. Mr. H. Kotewall; and the Chinese representatives on the Legislative Council; also the Hon. Mr. S. H. Dodwell, Mr. Wang Keung, and Mr. S. C. K. Hawkins, Chief Assistant to the Secretary for Chinese Affairs. The latter will act generally throughout the visit as liaison officer.

GUARDS OF HONOUR

As the official party disembarked from the train they were greeted with a General Salute, the band and drums of the Royal Welch Fusiliers rendering the Chinese National Anthem while overhead a flight of Royal Air Force planes passed over the railway station. After inspection of the Guard of Honour drawn up on the terminal platform the party embarked on the motor launches Britannia and Lila which conveyed them across the harbour. The vessels were

The fleet under Rear-Admiral Yarnell will remain here until November 12, according to present arrangements. Of chief significance is the fact that this is the first visit to these waters of the

EMBEZZLEMENT CHARGE

Joseph Charles Gardner, 48, unemployed, was charged before Mr. K. Keen at the Central Magistracy yesterday for the fraudulent conversion of $154.60 from the Union Insurance Society of Canton on June 16.

In prosecuting, Insp. J. Murphy asked for forty eight hours remand which was granted.

Insp. Murphy added that there were further charges to be preferred against defendant.

KING TO VISIT THE CITY

Two Coronation
Engagements

LOYAL ADDRESS BY CORPORATION

The King will pay two visits to the City during the Coronation celebrations in May, states "The Daily Telegraph."

The first will be to receive a loyal address, and the second to dine with the Corporation at Guildhall.

The Lord Mayor, Sir Percy Vincent, presiding at the Court of Common Council, recently, said he had received a letter from the Private Secretary to his Majesty stating:

"His Majesty will be pleased to comply with the request of the Corporation of London that he should visit the City during the forthcoming Coronation festivities, for the purpose of receiving from them a loyal Address."

"The King will also be happy to accept the invitation of the Corporation to dinner at the Guildhall during the course of next summer."

The Lord Mayor's announcement was greeted with prolonged cheers. A resolution was carried expressing the gratification of the Court, and asking the Lord Mayor to convey the acknowledgments of the Corporation to his Majesty.

A number of shipowners are planning special cruises to London for the Coronation festivities. The Port of London Authority has agreed to provide moorings.

CANADIAN HERRINGS

Six-and-a-half thousand tons of Canadian salted herring will arrive in Shanghai next month to be sold in the local market by the Shanghai branch of the Mitsui Bussan Kaisha and the Elwo Yokoi, a local concern, the "Shanghai Nippo" reported. The two firms, the daily said, purchased the fish after outbidding their American and British rivals.

LUXURY AT 200 M.P.H.

America's New Monoplanes

CHINA CLIPPERS

Officials of the Boeing Aircraft Company disclosed in Seattle (U.S.A.) on October 21 some of the details of new China clippers to be delivered to Pan-American Airways next year. They will have accommodation for 60 passengers in the daytime, with sleeping accommodation for 40. The cabins will be most luxuriously fitted out.

The machines will be double-decked monoplanes metal flying boats of a revolutionary design. They will be 109 feet long, 28 feet high, and will have a wingspread of 152 feet. Their speed will be 200 m.p.h.

They will have stubwing hydro stabilisers instead of the conventional wingtip floats.

Pan-American Airways have evolved standard fares for their China clipper service to Honolulu, Manila, and Guam, the latter being a small American island in the Eastern Pacific.

WEEKLY DEPARTURES

The first fare-paying passenger service starts to-day, and there will be regular departures every Wednesday.

Single fare from San Francisco to Honolulu is $72, the return fare being $127.

The fare from San Francisco to Manila is $160 single and $237 return. Single fare from San Francisco to Midway Island is $68, to Wake Island $115, and to Guam $140. Return fares are slightly less than double the single.

All fares include meals on board the clippers and overnight accommodation, where necessary, at Pan-American Airways hotels.

Combined steamer and air trips to the Far East are being arranged. Pan-American Airways has a waiting list of passengers for the Orient numbering over 1000.

FUHRER ON "LYING DEMOCRACIES"

Example Of Spain

Herr Hitler in the Deutschlandhalle recently opened the National-Socialist Winter Help campaign, through which last winter the sum of nearly 372,000,000 marks was distributed in the form of food, clothing, and fuel to about 13,000,000 of the needier members of the community. His speech was broadcast to meetings arranged in all parts of the Reich to awaken public interest in what is regarded as "a unique example of true Socialist achievement," states "The Times."

Herr Hitler in his speech addressed an emotional appeal to the nation combined with a scathing attack not only on Bolshevism but on democracies. It was the familiar story of an outside world both wicked and stupid contrasted with a Germany knit together, in spite of outside obstruction, by both the idealism and the common sense of the National-Socialist community spirit.

After 1918, said Herr Hitler, it had been reasonable to hope that a senseless war would be followed by a sensible peace on the basis of President Wilson's Fourteen Points. It had at least been reasonable to expect an end of distress. But the most senseless of wars had had a most senseless end.

Herr Hitler repeated a variation of the usual version of the much-quoted remark attributed to a French statesman after the war: "This peace is for us a continuation of the war." The division into victors and vanquished, the piling of folly upon folly, could only lead to Bolshevik disintegration. If one looked at democracies one would not wonder at the victory of Bolshevism. "This democracy is just a lie. And what a lie!"

A NEW GERMAN MAN

Herr Hitler continued to speak in a high, hoarse tone of "lying democracies," and pointed to the example of Spain.

He then contrasted the enormous sacrifices, heroism, and efforts by which Germany had been captured by a National-Socialist movement beginning with seven men. A new German man, a new type of mankind had been evolved in this struggle of men who after fighting the war had had to fight another at home with

ALCOHOLISM NOT A CRIME

Scots Professor's
Views

Alcoholism should be accepted as a disease or an illness and not as a crime or misdemeanour, according to Professor D. K. Henderson.

Professor Henderson, who is physician superintendent of the Royal Edinburgh Hospital for Nervous Diseases, told the Society for the Study of Inebriety in London recently, that the distress and disaster which followed the abuse of alcohol was so enormous that it would seem reasonable to advocate its total suppression.

"I hasten to add, however, that I do not consider such a proposition either practicable or advisable."

"Alcohol, in some form or another, has come to occupy such an established place in our body economy that it will not be done without."

ASTOUNDED HIM

He was astounded to hear it stated recently that an alcoholic was "a wilful sinner, a man of vicious temperament, to be condemned, blamed, and differentiated, one who had his destiny in his own hands."

"Illness cannot be treated by prison methods," he said, "and all know that alcoholics form perhaps the bulk of the ins and outs of prison life."

"Apart from the decency of the thing, the prison sentence is totally inadequate, either to benefit the individual or to protect society."

They might hope that the problem was not insoluble, and was not something to be accepted by patient or doctor in a fatalistic spirit.

SERVICES APPRECIATED

A large number of Overseas Chinese, who have been forced to return to China from the United States and Europe during the past year as a result of the depression, were friends of Dr. Sun Yat-sen, late founder of the Kuomintang, and aided him when he was planning the revolution during the latter days of the Ching Dynasty in 1911, according to a spokesman of the Canton Overseas Affairs Bureau. These hard-working natives, who spent many years abroad making their living, contributed money to finance the work of Dr. Sun and some even gave him food and lodging when he sought refuge in America. Efforts are being made by the authorities to accommodate these returning Chinese in order that they may live quiet and comfortable lives in the South.

a loss of 400 killed—"murdered"—and 33,000 injured. These enormous sacrifices had had to be made in order to check the developments threatening from a democracy led by international Jews and save Germany from the edge of the abyss. The Nazis had been determined that if the German people had to go under it should be calmly and in good order.

Herr Hitler admitted that the German people were afflicted with human failings like others; they were capricious children, "but they are our people, and we have to make the best we can of them."

"MISERABLE GRUMBLERS"

And indeed, he continued, they were a good, decent people—a wonderful people. Out of them was the burden of his claims—even out of the two camps, the loud-mouthed but cowardly Nationalists, whom he had always hated most, and the prating Socialists—they had made a miracle, a national community founded on practical Nationalism and practical Socialism; they had won the whole German people, and Moscow could shower them with its smirking Jewish lies without effect. They had made a Germany of stability and steady development. He was sorry for miserable grumblers who did not know how wonderful it was to work or what it was to work.

After a few digs, scathing and humorous, at Germans who complained of "one-day Sunday"—he had often had only a crust of bread in Nazi campaigning days—he asked his hearers to look at what was happening round them outside and ask whether it was not worth making sacrifices now, as they had in the past, in order to escape the same fate.

Unexpected Energy

The artist's conception of "unexpected energy" is perhaps based on that annual regatta between rival crews, for which one trains on Beer, the other trains on milk... and which the Beer drinkers have won successively for many years.

That same unexpected energy that is so evident in the Beer in your home countries you will find equally apparent in U.B., plus, of course, those wholesome qualities, fine flavour, and uniformity... all of which go to make U.B. "Beer at its Best."

AMERICAN RECIPES

FRUIT-CHOCOLATE LAYER CAKE

Wash 1 cup uncooked prunes, boil 10 minutes in sufficient water to cover, drain, pit, and cut into small pieces. Wash 1 cup seedless raisins, drain and chop. Sift small amount of 2 cups flour over fruits. Cut 2 1-ounce squares bitter chocolate and melt over warm water. Cream 1½ cups granulated sugar and ½ cup shortening thoroughly, add chocolate and mix. Sift flour with 1 teaspoon baking powder and 1 teaspoon salt and add alternately with 1 cup milk, beating well. Add fruits and 1 teaspoon vanilla and 3 eggs beaten well and mix thoroughly. Pour into 3 greased layer cake tins and bake 25 to 30 minutes in a moderate oven (375 deg. F). Put layers together with boiled frosting.

BOILED FROSTING

Place 1 cup sugar, ½ cup water, 1 teaspoon cream of tartar and 1-15 teaspoon salt in a smooth saucepan and stir until dissolved. Boil sirup to 242 deg. F. or until it spins a long thread. Pour gradually into 2 egg whites that have been stiffly beaten—beating constantly. Add 1 teaspoon vanilla and continue beating until stiff enough to spread on cake.

HAM LOAF

Mix 1 pound minced, smoked ham, 1 pound minced lean pork, 1½ teaspoons salt, 1 teaspoon pepper, 2 tablespoons minced onion, 1 teaspoon minced parsley and 1 cup soft bread crumbs. Mix very thoroughly. Then add 1 beaten egg and 1 cup milk and blend until mixture holds together quite well. Form into a loaf shape and place in a loaf pan. Pour tomatoes over loaf. Bake in a moderate oven (350 deg. F.) 1½ hours, basting occasionally.

COLD BEETROOT SOUP

Beetroots are good and cold soup makes an occasional pleasant change, especially when there is hot meat or fish to follow, when it will save the trouble of either grapefruit or hors d'oeuvres to start with. The delicious Russian borsch, which has beetroot as one of its ingredients, is, of course, peerless among soups, but it is expensive and rather troublesome to make. Therefore this simpler soup, which is also a cold one, may be welcome at many tables.

Boil three fairly large beetroots in their skins, or, of course, they may be bought already boiled from many greengrocers' shops. When soft allow to cool. Then peel and run through the mincer or grate finely. Add a pint of cold water. Bring to the boil slowly and simmer for fifteen minutes. Remove from the stove. Add the juice of two lemons and two tablespoonsful of sugar. Cool, if possible, in a refrigerator. Just before serving add a dessertspoonful of cream to each plate or bowl. Salt and white pepper can be added to taste, but are not strictly necessary. While talking of mincing machines, it may be said here that by far the easiest, most effective, and quickest way of cleaning them after use, whether vegetables or meats have gone through, is to pour into them, immediately afterwards, about a cupful of cold water. Turn the handle as you pour the water in, and the cogs and little holes will be cleared in no time. Often a considerable amount of the food used can thus be added to what is being cooked. Hence the expedient is economical in every respect.

PARSLEY BREAD SAUCE

This recipe dates from 1586. Take a large handful of parsley, wash it and mince it small. Boil with butter and a little sieved cooked spinach to colour. Season with half teaspoonful of salt and pepper to taste. When ready add sufficient fine new white crumbs and boil till it thickens. This may be served with roast or baked rabbit, and, though rarely seen nowadays, this old sauce is very good.

APPETISING RECIPES

CRAB AU GRATIN

Melt a nut of butter in a pan, stir in a tablespoonful of chopped mushrooms and chopped onion, and chopped onion, and fry lightly. Add a cupful of milk or fish stock, a dessertspoonful of chopped parsley, pepper, salt and the crab. When heated through, pour into a buttered pie-dish, sprinkle with grated cheese and breadcrumbs, and dot with butter. Leave in a fairly hot oven until the crumbs are browned. Decorate with chopped parsley.

ROLLED SANDWICHES

Cut some bread very thin, then pound the butter with flaked crab and seasoning, including a pinch of chopped parsley and a few drops of anchovy essence. Remove the crust from the bread, and spread with the butter and crab mixture. Roll up and tie with a sprig of watercress.

SALMON SURPRISE

A tin of salmon is a good standby and makes this popular dish. Remove the skin and small bones from the salmon, then flake the fish. Add a little chopped parsley, a few drops of lemon juice, salt and pepper, the yolks of two eggs and a cupful of white sauce. Pour into a greased dish, fold the stiffly whisked whites of the eggs, then bake in a slow oven for half an hour.

SARDINE-EGGS

Hard boil as many eggs as required, remove the shells and cut the eggs lengthwise. Remove the yolks and pound each separately with a boned sardine, a knob of butter, pepper and salt, and a pinch of chopped parsley. Fill the eggs with the mixture and serve on a lettuce leaf, garnished with rings of skinned tomatoes and chopped parsley. Serve with rolls and butter.

CHEESE SAVOURIES

These delicious after-dinner savouries can be eaten hot or cold, or are excellent with coffee as a change from sandwiches for evening entertaining. Sift six ounces of self-raising flour and a pinch of salt into a bowl. Rub in three ounces of butter, add a tablespoonful of finely grated cheese, and make into stiff paste with a beaten egg and a little water if required. Roll out thinly and line pastry tins with it. Put a tablespoonful of butter into a saucepan, melt it and add a dessertspoonful of flour. Stir for a minute, add a teaspoonful of milk slowly and boil for two minutes, stirring thoroughly. Remove from the heat and add a pinch of salt, a pinch of pepper, and a pinch of dry mustard, then the yolks of two eggs and four tablespoonsful of finely grated cheese of strong flavour. Whisk the whites of the eggs to a stiff froth and fold into the mixture. Three-quarters-fill the pastry cases with it, and bake in a rather hot oven for about twenty minutes.

ONION PUREE

Cook half a pint of soaked haricot beans and rub them through a sieve. Meanwhile cut up four large onions, Spanish ones if you like, into dice and stew them in butter without browning them. Sieve them also, mix the two purees together, season with salt, pepper and a little grated nutmeg, and moisten with white stock until the right thickness is reached. Cook together a little until creamy, and serve with croutons of fried bread.

FRUIT TARTS

When tarts and pasties are made with soft fruit or with jam that contains a large proportion of juice, it is advisable to brush the pastry over with beaten white of egg before filling the tart. This prevents the pastry from absorbing the juice and becoming sodden before it is thoroughly cooked. To prevent juice from boiling out the edges of the pastry should be moistened with milk instead of with water before they are pressed together. If the pastry is over-browned or accidentally burnt, it should be lightly scraped with a fine grater, brushed free from crumbs, and sprinkled with castor sugar or grated lump sugar.

SARDINE SAVOURIES

For savoury eggs, pound the centres of hard-boiled eggs with sardines and a little skinned tomato. Add pepper and a few drops of lemon juice. Stuff the white halves of the eggs with this mixture, piling it high. Then decorate with a little strip of plumed curled round a green caper. Serve on a bed of watercress.

ROLLS

Bone and skin your sardines and mash them up. Put some of the mash, seasoned with salt, pepper and cayenne, into little pastry rolls, like diminutive sausage rolls, and either bake them or better still, egg and breadcrumb and fry them golden.

FRITTERS

Open a tin of small sardines and let them lie in a dish with their oil and a sprinkling of chopped parsley and cayenne pepper for an hour. Take them out, drain and dip them in frying batter and fry them in deep fat.

FRIED-1

Roll some small sardines (boning them first, if you like) in the thinnest of thin rashers of streaky bacon, seasoning them with salt, pepper and a little cayenne. Tie the bacon rolls with cotton or skewer them with a cock-tail stick and fry them in deep fat.

FRIED-2

Brush over some sardines with made mustard, add a drop or two of lemon juice, roll them in egg and then in breadcrumbs and fry them in deep fat.

WITH SOFT ROE TOASTS

Pound up some boned sardines with two or three cooked herrings' roes. Add about the same amount of butter and season with salt, pepper and cayenne. Spread this mixture on cold toast and decorate with chopped parsley or yolk of hard-boiled egg.

OR ONION TOAST

Cut a small onion or two (raw) into very thin rings, put some of these rings round a sardine and put it on a piece of toast which has been spread, if you like, with a little anchovy paste mixed with butter.

If you like to decorate these toasts still further with chopped cucumber, gherkins and capers, your guests' applause will probably reward you.

AND CHEESE SANDWICH

Mash some boned sardines, mix them with cayenne pepper and a little grated Parmesan cheese (or even Cheddar, if it is a dry one), spread the mixture between thin slices of buttered bread, and as a sandwich, or if you care to venture, fry the whole thing golden on each side in a little butter.

LEMON MERINGUE PIE

Whisk two ounces of castor sugar with the yolks of two eggs, and add an ounce of melted butter. Mix a tablespoonful of corn-flour to a smooth paste with a little cold water, pour on a small teaspoonful of boiling water, and add to the butter and sugar. Stir in the grated rind and the juice of a large lemon. Have ready a pie-dish lined with pastry round the sides. The pastry should be made with four ounces of self-raising flour, a pinch of salt, a dessertspoonful of sugar, two ounces of butter, and the yolk of an egg, and a little milk to mix. Pour in the lemon mixture, and bake in a moderate oven for about twenty-five minutes. Then whisk the whites of the three eggs used to a stiff froth with a tablespoonful of castor sugar, pile on the top, and put back in the oven until the meringue is set.

TOMATO OLIVETTE

Cut tomatoes crosswise, scoop out a very little pulp from each center, sprinkle with salt, pepper, sugar and flour. Wrap a stuffed olive in a narrow piece of bacon, fasten with a toothpick and place one in center of each tomato half; broil until tomatoes are done and bacon is crisp.

GODLESS MOVEMENT

Zurich, Nov. 3.
In an article following-up its recent sensational revelations regarding the extent of the "Godless Movement" in Soviet Russia, the Swiss Evangelic press service states that the Soviet-Russian Godless organisation which is endowed with capital of 19,000,000 roubles, maintains 6,900 Godless clubs, 148 schools and 102 seminaries and recreation clubs.

The organisation moreover trains annually 5,680 agitators including many foreigners for the promotion of the Godless Movement and it proposes to raise 50,000,000 roubles for defraying propaganda costs by means of a lottery.

The Evangelic press service finally states that Litvinoff, who recently has been made an honorary member of the organisation, donated the sum of 400 roubles and expressed his thanks for the honour conferred him in a letter, which also announced that his wife and children would likewise join the movement.

NEWSPAPER COMMENT

Change Of Government In Iraq

London, Nov. 3.
Considerable interest is shown in the newspapers regarding the effects of last week's military coup d'etat in Iraq. The newspapers generally are inclined to believe the new regime will recognise as fully as its predecessor, the advantages of close and friendly relations with the British Government.

It is noted the question of recognition of the new Government is unlikely to arise, as the resignation of the old ministers and the appointment of the new, outwardly followed normal formalities. Looking further into the future, several writers express the view that the attitude of the British public towards the new administration, will be determined to a great extent by its policy towards the minority communities in Iraq. British Wireless.

SPEECH SEQUEL

London, Nov. 3.
Sir Eric Phipps, British Ambassador in Berlin, paid a visit to the German Foreign Office to-day. The British Ambassador drew the friendly attention of the German Government, to two speeches made recently by General Goering and Dr. Goebbels. Sir Eric Phipps made it clear that His Majesty's Government cannot accept the implications they seemed to contain, that any hardship which may be suffered by the German population, can in any way be attributed to British policy. British Wireless.

MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS

London, Nov. 3.
The latest returns of the English Municipal Elections, which so far cover the results in about 360 cities and towns, show the Conservatives have a net gain of over 70 seats and the Labour has suffered a net loss of 116. British Wireless.

DEBATE IN COMMONS

Labour Criticism

London, Nov. 3.
The House of Commons debate on the address which will last for several days, was opened by Mr. C. R. Attlee who was to-day re-elected Leader of Labour Party in the Commons.
He welcomed the announcement of a bill to remove anomalies in the present standing of ministers, which is expected to increase the Premier's salary and to equalise those of the other Cabinet Ministers.
As regards the main provisions of the speech, he criticised the absence of any reference to the plight of the unemployed and the failure to indicate any approach to the major discontents at home, or any initiative in dealing with the world unrest.

Mr. Attlee was followed by the Prime Minister, who was warmly received by the House, on his resumption of active political duties. He announced that Thursday would be devoted to a debate on foreign affairs in their widest aspect, to be opened by the Foreign Secretary who would give a general review of the international situation. Mr. Baldwin added he hoped a debate on the Anglo-Egyptian Treaty might take place one day during the week after next.
On Thursday there would be a statement on Palestine and he expressed the hope that all the parties in Palestine would co-operate with the Royal Commission, which was going out and which will be perfectly free to report, in any sense its members thought fit within its terms of reference.
It was under the happiest auspices that the Imperial Conference would assemble again after five years, in the same month as the Coronation of the King.

PROPOSED BILLS

Reviewing the legislative programme announced in the King's speech, the Premier said he hoped the Factories Bill would be introduced before Christmas and that in the bill they would be able to deal with all aspects of the subject. The existing law was out of date and spread over a large number of amending measures. The proposed bill would be not only a consolidating measure but a measure for the revision of the laws.
He considered the projected Public Order Bill was urgent and hoped to see it passed before Christmas.
The Liberal Leader, Sir Archibald Sinclair said he found very great interest and profound anxiety about the international situation amongst members of all parties, and urged the second day should be devoted to a debate on foreign affairs. He attributed to the weakness of the Government's policy, the fact that while a year ago fifty nations were following the British lead in a united resistance to aggression, now the Governments were unable to bring five nations into a conference on the preservation of peace in Western Europe, and the country was exposed to the gibes and threats of foreign statesmen.
He advocated immediate application of the recommendations of the

U.S. ELECTION SCENES

Rival Candidates
At The Polls

New York, Nov. 3.
The progress of the polling up to now indicates a record vote of 45,000,000 in the United States presidential election.

President Roosevelt, accompanied by eight members of his family, including his 88-year-old mother, voted at the President's home in Hyde Park. The President quietly gave his full name at the behest of a polling booth official, which was the signal for the clicking of a battery of cameras and the operation of a dozen news reel machines.

About the same time, Governor Alfred Landon was alighting from a train at Independence, Kansas, where he was saluted by 19 shots from the National Guard. He went to a polling booth in the sales room of a local motor car company, accompanied by his family and his father.

In reply to someone's shout, "Where's your high hat?" the Governor answered, "I haven't any high hat. And I still wear the same size."

Ex-President Herbert Hoover voted at his home in Palo Alto, California, while the United Party's candidate, Senator Lemke, voted at Fargo, North Dakota.

CRITICAL STATES

Early figures from two critical states, Michigan and West Virginia, showed the former favouring Landon and the latter Roosevelt.

Col. Frank Knox, Republican nominee for the vice-presidency, left a Chicago polling booth remarking, "Business as usual," and went to his day's work at a great newspaper office.

In many big cities like New York and Chicago the congestion at the polls was so great that important personages like the Postmaster-General, Mr. James Farley, were forced to wait over half an hour before they could vote.

In New York workmen started voting while the city slept and before 11 a.m. 20 per cent. of the city's entire vote had been cast.

Hitherto calm has prevailed throughout the country, except for a few brawls.

Mr. Al Smith, wearing his inevitable brown derby and smoking a big cigar, voted on fashionable Madison Square Avenue.

VETERAN VOTER

At Morristown, N.J., which is largely inhabited by British stock, Mr. Patrick Morrison, aged 97, voted for Roosevelt, having voted against the Democrats ever since he voted against Abraham Lincoln in 1861.

At Leadville, Colorado, voters went to the polls in a temperature of 8 below zero.

Mr. James Farley, the Democrats' chairman, broadcast claims to-day that Roosevelt would carry New Hampshire, Massachusetts and Pennsylvania, which were generally expected to go Republican.

The first serious election riots have occurred at Puerto Rico where two are dead and six injured seriously.

"On the basis of early returns I predict an overwhelming Democratic victory," declared Mr. Farley in a statement this afternoon. He added: "The great landslide is on," and asserted the Republicans would not carry a single state from the Hudson River to the Pacific.
Meanwhile, Landon's home state, Kansas, remains obstinately pro-Roosevelt.

EARLY RESULTS

New York, Nov. 3.
At 6 p.m. to-night partial returns showed President Franklin D. Roosevelt Democrat, leading the presidential race in 14 states, carrying 162 electoral college votes, and Governor Alfred Landon, Republican, was given six states with a total of 54 electoral votes.
Local Republicans unofficially concede to Roosevelt the states of Mississippi and Louisiana. Fragmentary returns indicate that Roosevelt will also carry ten other southern states with Electoral College votes totalling 124.

At 7 p.m. Roosevelt was leading in 18 states, carrying 202 votes, and Landon was leading in six, with 54 votes.
Roosevelt has carried New Haven, Connecticut, with a majority of two to one. Early returns from 64 precincts in Illinois give him 29,320, and Landon 5,880 votes.

AMENDMENT TO ADDRESS

London, Nov. 3.

An amendment to the House of Commons address has been tabled in names of Mr. Churchill, Sir Robert Horn, Mr. Amery, Captain Guest and Lord Winterston. It expresses the view, "That in the present circumstances, the world strength of our national defence, and especially of our air defence, is no longer adequate to secure the peace, safety and the freedom of Your Majesty's faithful subjects."

The terms of the amendment are a repetition of a similar amendment, supported by the same members two years ago.

"THE WHITE ANGEL"

What is heralded as one of the outstanding productions of the screen, "The White Angel," a First National portraying the life story of the immortal nurse, Florence Nightingale, opens at the King's Theatre to-day with Kay Francis in the stellar role.

The picture paints in fiery drama the fight of Florence Nightingale, a wealthy English society girl, to remedy conditions in army field hospitals and the neglect of dying soldiers. All the battlefield is pictured in the film, as well as the beauty of the life of sacrifices of Florence Nightingale and her specially picked nurses.

The picture is enacted by an exceptionally talented cast of principals, with more than one thousand persons in extra roles. Ian Hunter, famous on the London stage and in films, and Donald Woods have the two leading masculine roles.

"POPPY"

By all odds the most hilarious, laugh filled achievement of the career of America's dean of all comedies is "Poppy," W. C. Fields' film which opened yesterday at the Queen's Theatre.

The picture is the first to give Fields fans a really satisfying quantity of the master's tomfoolery at a sitting. Though the romance of Rochelle Hudson and Richard Cromwell is skillfully woven into a dominant position in the plot "Poppy" is pure Fields, from start to final fade-out.

The comedian appears as a patent medicine vendor who roves from carnival to carnival in the day of his prime, the 1880's. With him travels his ward, Miss Hudson, an eighteen-year-old girl who has spent all her life in the glitter of side show business.

In a small town where Fields sets up his medicine show—and quiet shell game—Rochelle meets and falls in love with Richard Cromwell, a village youngster who is the son of the mayor. The comedian scenting money, fakes up a plan to obtain for Rochelle and himself an unclaimed estate in the town.

He palms the girl off as a misbegotten heiress. The plan has succeeded when his plot is uncovered, and Rochelle faces a return to the life of the road.

BLACK CARS FASHION AGAIN

What Women Decide

One-colour cars—and that colour black—are going to be the vogue again. Women, by their preference at the Motor Show, are deciding the fashion, states the "Daily Mail."

A representative of Thrupp and Maberley, the coach builders, said, recently.

"Two-colour—that is, wings and body of different colours—are out of fashion and black is coming back."

"Any amount of women have said, 'But I don't like the colour, and pass on. With black they cannot very well do that. It goes with any shade of gown."

SMALL CAR TRIUMPHS
"What is possibly more important—it also tones with any livery worn by the man who has to drive it every day."

Lord Austin, speaking at the show, said: "Business conditions in the motor industry have not been so settled for years."

"This year's Motor Show is a triumph for the smaller and moderate-powered British cars. Increased spending power has given the motorist and the would-be motorist public the opportunity to buy a larger vehicle and exercise more discrimination in the choice of a car."

"ALMOST EVERY LUXURY"
"Cars of moderate power and price now offer almost every luxury of equipment and performance previously monopolised by the larger type car."

Probably the most admired car of the show this year is the four-and-a-half litre Bentley, which has been made to the order of the Duke of Kent.

It embodies all the streamline effects in coachwork of last year, and has an all-chromium dash-board.

RETURN VISIT

London, Nov. 3.
Colonel Beck, the Polish Foreign Minister, who is visiting London next week to return Mr. Anthony Eden's visit to Warsaw in the spring of 1935, has been invited to be present at the Lord Mayor's banquet at the Guildhall, next Tuesday, at which the Prime Minister will speak.

"THE WIDOW FROM MONTE CARLO"

"The Widow from Monte Carlo," Warner Bros. rollicking comedy drama, based on the gay romance by Ian Hay and A. E. W. Mason, is scheduled as the feature attraction at the Majestic Theatre to-day.

The story centres about the unusual adventures of a dabbler major and a South American beauty who is the widow of an English Duke. Through the importunities of her former husband's relatives she becomes engaged to a stuffed shirt diplomat who is about as romantic as an iceberg.

Terrifically bored, the young lady slips out one night to the Casino at Monte Carlo. There she meets the irrepressible major who takes her in his arms, without even knowing her, and kisses her.

The major finds out who she is and demands a meeting with such persistence that she finally yields. There follows a series of exciting and amusing episodes that ends in the smashing of her engagement to the diplomat and her betrothal to the major whom she really loves.

Warren William has the role of Major Chepstow and the part of the Duchess, is played by the exotic Dolores Del Rio.

"MEET NERO WOLFE"

Seated midst his orchids and beer in a house he hasn't left in seven years, Rex Stout's famous detective character, Nero Wolfe, solves three baffling murders in Columbia's "Meet Nero Wolfe" which opened yesterday at the Alhambra Theatre.

Much like a master chessman, Wolfe moves his beer bottle caps like pawns in a game of murder and mystery. On the screen this portly, lovable criminologist is portrayed by Edward Arnold, with Lionel Stander in the role of Archie Goodwin, Wolfe's chief stooge and private investigator.

Wolfe is called in when Professor Barstow dies on the golf links presumably of heart failure. The following day one Carlo Marigola, a gunsmith is found dead of the same cause. Wolfe learns that both died of murder—and by the same hand. The third murder, by the bite of the fox de lance, deadliest of snakes occurs during Wolfe's extensive investigations.

The field narrows down to six suspects. Wolfe invites them all to his home, and by a clever ruse, challenges the murderer and forces his hand.

Featured in the cast are Joan Perry, Victor Jory, Russell Hardie, Nana Bryant, Dennis Moore, and John Qualen. Herbert Biberman directed.

PARACHUTES IN WARFARE

Soviet Training To Be Intensified

Moscow, Nov. 3.
Parachutists destined to descend behind the enemy lines and interrupt hostile forces in the line of communication, in the event of war are to be trained on an even more lavish scale than heretofore, according to reports appearing in the press.

These reports declare that the Soviet-Russian military authorities have been greatly impressed by the successful mass descents of the parachutists during the recent Army manoeuvres which at the time, were reported to have caused the foreign military observers to comment favourably on the military efficiency of the new tactics developed by the Russian Air Force.

The extent of the training now proceeding for parachutists is indicated by the fact that the Pilot School of the "Central Club," has alone trained 1,000 parachutists, 77 instructors and 320 airplane pilots in the past year.

INTIMIDATION CHARGES

Racketeering Alleged In Colony

OUTSIDERS TRY TO INTERFERE

Serious charges, which savoured of racketeering methods as employed in the United States, were brought by Cheung Yue-fu, 52, a tailor of 50, Hennessy Road, first floor, a native of Wei Hei Wei, against three men, Chu Hing-tang, Keung Ping-huen and Tau Ching-ting, at the Central Magistracy yesterday.

Mr. C. E. R. Sanderson appeared for the three defendants while Mr. G. S. Ford held a watching brief for the complainant.

Insp. A. E. Carey prosecuted, and stated that the complainant was a tailor who made clothing mainly for the naval people.

On October 13 at 1.30 p.m., he went to the Kwong Lee tailor shop on 49, Johnston Road, ground floor, with some cloth with which to make a shirt.

Talking to Kok Hing-yu, the proprietor, he met the first defendant, Chu, there and he asked him when he had returned from the north.

He then asked, "How's the guild coming along?" which seemed to have insulted the defendant.

Chu then told him that he was down here to collect subscriptions for the guild, but Cheung refused to pay.

Defendant told him that he, Cheung, was still on the list of the members of the guild, and added "How dare you oppose the guild, and refuse the payment?" They nearly came to blows but an altercation was averted by Kok.

Cheung returned to the shop at 8 p.m., and met Chu outside the shop who entered, while the other two defendants remained outside.

Chu grabbed him and in doing so tore his jacket, and he fell on the ground. On regaining his feet, Keung struck him on the nose. In the ensuing melee police whistles were blown and a huge crowd gathered. An Indian constable arrested Chu and took him to Wanchai police station as the other two had disappeared by that time. Later the other two were arrested.

In continuing his own story, Cheung said that the name of the guild was the "Navy Tailors' Club," of 73, Lockhart Road, second floor. Last year, Tau took over the presidency.

Later, Chu went to Wei Hei Wei to open a branch of the guild there, but it was closed down by the Nanking authorities through intimidation of the tailors and shoemakers there.

Is most of your work done for sailors?—Yes.

What do you do when the fleet's not in?—I follow the fleet. (Considerable merriment was caused at this remark and humorous allusions were made to the nickname of the first defendant, who is called "Ginger" Chu.)

Were you more friendly with the third defendant?—I knew him well, and I think he is honest.

You don't think he would demand false claims from you?—He would under the instigation of others.

Your meeting with the first defendant was quite accidental, and you started the ball rolling by asking about the guild?—Yes.

If the subscription were free, would you join them?—No, I wouldn't, even if it were free.

Why are you so interested in the guild if you are not a member?—Because of the fighting that is always going on at their meetings.

Did you attend any meetings?—No, but I heard all about them.

What did Chu mean when he said that you slandered the guild?—I was always speaking ill of the members of the guild.

You haven't a high opinion of the guild then?—It was broken up. Broken up because the members were dilatory in paying their subscriptions?—No, because of the fighting.

Insp. Carey then questioned the complainant:—

What was the fighting about at the guild at Wei Hei Wei?—It arose from the fact that some of the tailors who were non-members went aboard men-of-war on business.

Can you tell about the outcome of the fight?—The members took one non-member to the president's home where he was assaulted, given no food for four days, and made to join the guild. Subsequently, the authorities stepped in and

POLICE DESERTER

Caught After Long Lapse

ONLY FEW MONTHS IN FORCE

Miao Fung-ho, 33, unemployed, a native of Wei Hei Wei, was charged yesterday before Mr. K. Keen at the Central Magistracy for deserting from the Hong Kong Police Force. Accused pleaded guilty.

Mr. L. H. Calthrop, A.S.P., in prosecuting, said that the defendant joined the force on October 6, 1930, but deserted on May 13, the following year. He was subsequently dismissed from the anti-prison guard on November 3, 1931. It was quite possible, added Mr. Calthrop, that defendant suffered from seasickness, but that was no reason for his desertion. There was no evidence that he had complained to any of his superiors, nor had he asked for a transfer.

It appeared that he was a seaman before he joined the force, and that was the inscription on his character card.

On information received, defendant was arrested on the old warrant of 1931.

Mr. Calthrop concluded that he was not pressing the case in view of the fact that over five and a half years had elapsed since defendant had deserted, and that he had had little service on the force.

However, the fact that he had taken the oath to serve and that the government had spent money to train him, he should suffer the consequences.

In answering to the charge, defendant replied that he came to the Colony looking for work, but had not found it. He had been perfectly willing to remain on the force but "mal-d3-mer" was too much for him.

His Worship fined defendant $30 or six weeks imprisonment.

DETECTIVE CHARGED

Accused Of Assault

A Chinese detective was the defendant yesterday at the Central Magistracy before Mr. W. Schofield when Ho Sam Tai alias Lam Tak, living in a flat at Nam On Fong, Shaukiwan, accused Tsot On, of assault, with intent to rob, and with menacing by force to demand money with intent to steal.

It was alleged by the complainant that the occurrences happened on the night of October 27.

Mr. E. S. C. Brooks appeared for the defendant and asked his Worship to fix a date for the hearing which was extended to November 17.

WEDDING

The forthcoming wedding is announced between Peter Jacob Tchuin, hair dresser, No. 5 King's Terrace, and Mary John Bondarenko, of the same address.

arrested six men and the guild was disbanded.

What happened to the funds of the guild?—I don't know.

Are any of the six men arrested in this Court?—Yes, they are the first and second defendants.

Both Insp. Carey and Mr. Sanderson informed Mr. Schofield that they respective witnesses had been approached by outsiders to keep vital evidence from the court, and to settle the matter out of the court.

His Worship issued a warning that the case could not now be dismissed from the court once proceedings had started, and that the people who interfered would be punished.

The hearing was adjourned to November 12.

FAMILY SQUABBLE

Money Matters Aired In Court

Wong Kat, 32, unemployed was charged before Mr. Q. A. A. Macfadyen at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday for unlawfully obtaining the sum of $4 from the complainant, Chiu Chi, 34, a married woman.

The complainant, Chiu Chi said that on October 21, the defendant came to her house and said that her husband had asked him to obtain $4 in order to buy things in Canton. "I gave him the money and when my husband returned, he said he knew nothing about it," stated complainant. "That same evening I met defendant in the streets and I asked him to return the money but instead he struck me, so I blew a police whistle and a constable came and arrested him."

When complainant's husband was brought to the witness box, he said that he knew nothing of it. "I have no money to lend anybody."

The defendant said that he did have permission from the husband to borrow the money. "I took only $2. We spoke of it in the tea house and he agreed to lend me the $3."

The defendant was bound over in $25 for a year.

He was also ordered to pay $4 amends, or serve 14 days' in jail.

BIG ROBBERY SEQUEL

Woman Tells Of Alarming Experiences

Wong Wing Sang, 36, odd job cooile, of no fixed abode, of Po San in Shanghai was charged on remand before Mr. Q. A. A. Macfadyen at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday, with complicity in a robbery which took place in (No. 229 Nathan Road, the residence of a contractor and his wife, Yu Hok Sing on September 22. Money and jewellery to the value of $1,000 was alleged to have been stolen.

Lee Kok Wai, 33, who was residing there at the time of the robbery said that the second defendant, came up to her and snatched her bracelet from her right hand which was worth over $50. He then demanded keys to open a small metal jewellery box, by threatening her with a knife. The two defendants sat on the floor and began to search out the jewellery in the small safe. Later, she said, she noticed another man also with knife in hand standing in the doorway. Later in the afternoon she went on board the s.s. Soo Chau with a detective and recognized the first accused.

The case was adjourned till this afternoon.

"WE REGARD OUR COLONIES AS A TRUST"

Says Earl De La Warr

"We regard our colonies as a trust, held by us for the advantage of the native populations."

Earl De La Warr, Under-Secretary for the Colonies said, this recently in opening the Colonial Empire Exhibition at Charing Cross Station, states the "Evening Standard."

"They are not our property, to use as we like," he said. "Just as we impose rules upon the public trustee in this country, so we impose rules on our own conduct as public trustee for the vast countries of our Empire in Africa, in Asia, in Central America, in the Mediterranean and in the South Seas."

"We must do all we can to help them to make the best of themselves and of their countries."

Lord De La Warr said that much had already been done for health, education and economic progress in the Colonies.

Measures were being taken which would, it was hoped, ultimately effect an improvement in the standard of nutrition of all the people in their care.

CONGRATULATIONS to every man and woman whose teeth are still perfect whose hair is still healthy whose nerves are still steady whose vitality is still buoyant

They've escaped the most common complaint of civilised people—a shortage of minerals in the body. Teeth were meant to last a lifetime, hair to retain its colour and luxuriance, and the heart and nervous system should give carefree service for 'three-score years and ten'.

But teeth, hair, nerves and muscles depend for well-being on the millions of cells of which the body is made up. These cells must have plenty of minerals to keep them strong; any shortage weakens them and you soon feel the effect in every organ of your body. Kalzana supplies the body with all the minerals it requires, in an easily absorbed form. Therefore, the effects of Kalzana are quickly felt in increased vitality, better appetite, soothed nerves. Soon the whole system is toned up. The teeth regain strength and hardness and decay is arrested. Radiant health returns—to stay. Start taking Kalzana without delay—give it to your children too.

"I am never without Kalzana, not taking them away, but at any time of extra strain, and when there are infections about. I find my resistance to disease and my general health marvellous."

The route from Government House to the vehicular ferry was lined by the Police and little groups of on-lookers gathered here and there to get a further glimpse of the party as they drove past under Police escort.

SPEECHES AT BANQUET

Yesterday's reception concluded with a banquet in the Ball Room at Government House during which the company was favoured with Scottish music played by the Pipers of the Hong Kong Volunteer Defence Corps.

The Toast List at the banquet was as follows:—The Republic of China, proposed by H.E. the Governor; The King, proposed by H.E. the Chairman of the Kwangtung Provincial Government; Canton, proposed by H.E. the Governor; Hong Kong, proposed by H. H. the Mayor of Canton; Our Distinguished Visitors, proposed by H.E. the Governor.

"PERSONALLY DELIGHTED"
In proposing "Our Distinguished Visitors" H.E. Sir Andrew Caldecott said:—

I want to say how personally delighted my wife and I are to be able to reciprocate the wonderful welcome and princely hospitality with which we were received in our recent visit to Canton. We can never forget the incidents of those two days: that evening meeting with the Generalissimo and his charming and gracious consort at Whampoa, when the magic sluices of the sunset let loose on land and river such a flood of gold that the very earth and sky seemed to reflect the rich warmth of their kindly reception of us. And then came that moonlit journey up the river by launch until the great city of Canton rose up on either side of us in tiers of coloured light and shade; high junks towered against the stars in patches of dark silence, while all around, the water teemed with the sleepless traffic of smaller craft.

The next morning saw us at the splendid University of Chungshan where Learning dwells, not cramped by the confines of city tenements, but crowned by the hills and sky in a spacious country seat of broad acres and lordly halls. Now can anybody who has once seen them ever forget the triumph of modern Chinese architecture in the stately Sun Yat Sen Memorial Hall, or the elegance of the Municipal Building in which our guests of this evening entertained me at lunch in true gargantuan style. And finally, as though this treasure store for the memory were not a sufficient gift to their visitors, our hosts presented us at parting with exquisitely chased ornaments of rare Chinese craftsmanship in ivory and metal.

"ABIDING FRIENDSHIP"
"But what my wife and I treasure most of all was the conviction that we carried away with us not only these beautiful memories and souvenirs but the abiding friendship of our hosts; and so it was that we were emboldened to greet them this morning as already old friends, and we are especially delighted that His Honour the Mayor, who was unfortunately indisposed at the time of our visit, is thoroughly restored to health and able, together with his charming lady, to greet our board this evening.

NEED FOR CO-OPERATION

"The greatest of philosophers has placed the good things of life in three categories: those that are good in themselves, those that are good by reason of their results, and those that are good both in themselves and in their results. Friendship, is in the third category. The need for co-operation between Canton and Hong Kong is universally recognized by all of us in this Colony.

"But you cannot have co-operation without mutual understanding, and one's first duty to one's neighbour is to get to know him and his needs and to let him get to know you and yours. This process requires suitable conditions of temperature and atmosphere; the essential psychological condition for the establishment of mutual understanding, and thereby of co-operation, is, believe me, a spirit of friendship. And therefore I pray and hope and trust that our guests will leave Hong Kong with the same feeling as that with which my wife and I left Canton—a sense of abiding friendship."

"GREATLY IMPRESSED"

Responding to the toast H.E. General Huang Mu Sung said:—
I am greatly impressed by Your Excellency's remarks regarding co-operation and mutual understanding and I must say that this entirely coincides with the ideals and principles of Dr. Sun Yat-sen, the late leader of the Kuomintang and of our present national leader, Generalissimo Chiang Kai Shek.

The progress Hong Kong has made in public works, which I must frankly say far surpasses our efforts in Canton, has given us a very good impression and no doubt will serve as a source of inspiration to us, which I regard as one of the important unexpected results of our visit.

CHINESE IDEALS

Now let me quote a few passages from our Sages to show the Chinese ideals about friendship so that we may have a common foundation and a common goal for our future efforts. Our Classics say: "Making friends with the good and being kind to your neighbour is the precious asset of a nation." Another passage reads "When nations enjoy peace and order, the world is then pacified"—in other words world peace depends on the internal stability of nations. Another passage says: "Tip service is not sufficient; you must put words into actions." Still another passage says "When you ask your friend for a favour you must be prepared to do him one in return." All this represents the spirit of friendship and mutual understanding, which coincides with the sentiments just expressed by our kind host. Henceforward let us show our friendship by deeds and give practical expression to our spirit of mutual confidence.

ENDORSE H.E.'S STATEMENT

His Honour the Mayor of Canton then made his reply and said:—

I need hardly emphasize that we entirely endorse the statement our kind host has just made that the spirit of friendship should form the basis of our relations and I desire to assure you that Canton will not only be prepared to reciprocate your friendship but will work for such mutual co-operation and assistance as would enable our friendly relations to show concrete results. The Chinese people in their relations and dealings with others have always stressed peace and friendship.
It is to be noted with gratification that in recent years the bonds of Anglo-Chinese friendship have greatly strengthened. The Chinese people appreciate your increasingly friendly spirit as manifested in the material support which the British Government has given to the Chinese currency stabilisation scheme and in its more recent action in extending huge export credits to China. We are appreciative of your country's active interest in our welfare and we know that the assistance we are receiving will stimulate our people to further efforts in the path of national recovery.

REQUIRE FOREIGN ASSISTANCE

Here down in the south we hope that with political stability achieved and with certain obstacles to trade removed, it will be possible to inaugurate a new era in the relations between Hong Kong and Canton. The prosperity of Hong Kong and Canton is really interdependent, and that continued economic rivalry between the two centres must cease unfavourably upon both. For the restoration of prosperity of our city we are embarking upon a gigantic programme of economic reconstruction and in this connection we require foreign assistance given in a spirit of absolute friendliness. We shall welcome foreign investments and co-operation, particularly from Hong Kong, our close neighbour. Now that our internal stability is reached and factors such as unrest and insecurity arising from civil warfare, banditry and Communist menace, that have been obstructing progress, have diminished, we are able to accord complete protection to investments and industries. With friendly relations which are bound to lead to mutual assistance and with favourable economic conditions resulting from the development of shipping, railway and air communications, I have no doubt that Hong Kong and Canton in the next few years—or perhaps in the very near future—will prosper and take the premier trade position of the Far East.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS

Address To Be Given By Miss Randell

PROBLEM OF REFORM

Miss Florence A. Randell, B.Sc. (London), a voluntary speaker of the League of Nations Union in London and a teacher for over thirty years is on a world visit to foster the cause of international relations. She has been invited by the local League of Nations Society to give a public address and has chosen for her subject the topical question of the "Reform of the League of Nations." This address, which will be open to the public, is being arranged and will be held at the Cathedral Hall on Tuesday, November 10 (the day before Armistice Day) at 5.30 p.m.

Miss Randell has for many years been a champion of the Suffragist Movement in England. A ready speaker, she has a wealth of information dealing with the League of Nations. Her address is being eagerly awaited and she has indicated her willingness to answer as far as possible all questions put to her at the meeting.

BOY SCOUTS

APPEAL FOR FUNDS

(The Editor, The Hong Kong Daily Press)

Dear Sir,—In the early part of 1935, at the Annual General Meeting of the Hong Kong Branch of the Boy Scouts Association, I took it on myself to appeal for more support from the public, reminding them that if every Scout performed one good deed a day, as a Scout's duty, the sum total for Hong Kong per annum of these good deeds would be about one quarter of a million. During the past year the total of the public subscriptions amounted to about $400.00, a Scout's good deed in the tangible valuation of the public appears, therefore, to be one-sixth of one cent!

I believe that the Scouts in Hong Kong are as well led as those in any other part of the world, and that this great organization is disseminating principles which are bound to make themselves more and more felt for good as time goes on.

The Association is badly in need of funds and in a real spirit of self help has prepared a Camp Fire Display on the Hong Kong Cricket Club Ground on Saturday next from 6.30 p.m. to 8.30 p.m. With confidence, knowing the many calls made on individuals, I voice the Association's earnest appeal to the public to make this Camp Fire a success.

Only a small sum is required to enable the Association to enter into the coming year's activities free of debt, but this sum is desperately needed. I beg for interest and support for the loyal and painstaking Commissioner and his Officers at Saturday's Camp Fire so that, with the money raised, Scouting in Hong Kong may yet have a hope of gaining the great position it so surely deserves.

Yours faithfully,
E. COCK

THREE PLANES A WEEK

Surprise was occasioned when the China National Aviation Corporation plane "Canton," on the Shanghai-Hong Kong-Canton run, arrived on Tuesday instead of this morning (as officially announced last week) on its inaugural flight from Shanghai.

Another plane is due at 2.00 p.m. to-day, and another on Sunday. The tri-weekly schedule is:—

POPPY MAKING

To the institution of Poppy Day must be given the credit of setting up what is more or less an unique industry.

When the enormous possibilities of this annual sale of emblems was so clearly demonstrated by the success of the first Appeal in 1921, the late Field-Marshal Earl Haig realised that a golden opportunity had presented itself for providing employment for disabled ex-Service men.

Both during the War, and afterwards, the problem of the establishment in civil life of the men who had been disabled in the Empire's service was one of grave concern to Lord Haig, and one can imagine with what great pleasure he saw set up in South East London in 1922 the first very small British Legion Poppy Factory.

At the outset, only 5 disabled men were employed. Naturally it was impossible for them to make more than a small proportion of the total number of Poppies required, but the undertaking grew with great rapidity, and it was not long before the entire needs of the Remembrance Day Appeal were being met, and very satisfactorily too, by the unalloyed efforts of the Legion's own workshops.

To-day in the beautiful model factory at Richmond, with its housing estate for the more seriously disabled married men, over 360 veterans of the Great War are permanently employed. Previously acknowledged:—

MORE TRADE WITH CHINA

We published yesterday a special article wherein the writer sought to demonstrate where and how Britain had lost considerable commercial prestige in the Far East through the tightening-up of her credit system. That this subject has been exercising the minds of British Statesmen and financiers for a long time is well known, and we publish on our front page to-day a very tangible result of the searching investigations which have been painstakingly made with a view to stimulating trade with the Far East generally and China particularly.

It is particularly appropriate that we should shortly discuss this most important subject in view of the arrival to-day from Canton of a delegation of leaders in the realms of trade and commerce in Southern China.

Let the fact be frankly stated—Britain has very heavy losses to make-up before she can regain anything approximating to her former eminent position in the China trade. There was, it is true, some revival last year, but even then Britain provided less than twelve per cent. of China's imports.

Improvement in the economic condition of China is no propaganda fiction. It is a very real and satisfying fact, and every effort made by the Home Government to promote better trade relations should receive wholehearted and practical support from Hong Kong. The time is most propitious.

Every section of Chinese trade has benefited during this last year, and the National Government and the several Provincial Governments are vigorously prosecuting developmental schemes calculated to convert every resource into a vital asset. The remarkable progress in transportation and communications is most significant, manifesting as it does a strategical as well as a commercial sagacity which must be accepted as an encouraging sign of the times.

Suspicion is always rife in the Far East, but even astute propagandists—who seem to breed as prolifically as rabbits in one certain nation—should find it extremely difficult to misrepresent this very welcome decision of the British Government to stimulate trade with China. This decision can have only one motive, namely, trade, and no

CENTRAL MARKET DEPOTS

In order to improve the health and sanitary conditions of the Central Market, it is reported that the Hong Kong Government has decided to order the removal of all poultry, fish and vegetable "land" (depots) to more suitable localities in the Western District (Sai Wan).

Owing to the long distance and great inconvenience of transportation, the agriculturists of the New Territories and dealers in fruits and vegetables have petitioned the Urban Council to alter the place of removal to a site closer to the centre of the city and next to the Kung Yick godown.

It is reported that the Urban Council has not been able to recommend the request of the poultry and fish dealers for the favourable consideration of the Government. But it is hoped that the request of the New Territory farmers and fruit dealers will be favourably considered.

A SPLENDID PRODUCTION

"Night Must Fall"

AN A.D.C. TRIUMPH

Congratulations to the Hong Kong Amateur Dramatic Club on selecting a most difficult play to act convincingly and on having produced it with an adroitness which would be regarded as a genuine triumph by a professional organisation.

Because their production of "Night Must Fall" at the China Fleet Club theatre last night was definitely one of those theatrical rarities, namely, an amateur production with the professional touch.

To recount the theme and the psychological intricacies of the play would be to spoil a treat for those who have not yet witnessed this production, but it will suffice to say that the obviousness of the "mystery" is its major charm, and the difficult task of the producer was to so create his characters that this very obviousness became increasingly mysterious as the action developed.

In this the producer, Mr. E. G. Smith-Wright succeeded in a manner which was as successful as it was surprising.

This play was written by an impecunious journalist (is the adjective necessary?) Emily Williams, almost three years ago, and it is still running in London with the author in the lead. The portmanteau of the nine telling parts in this local production might have been sitting beside Williams when he wrote this remarkably thrilling play, so convincingly did they delineate every character. Excellently cast, competently mounted and lighted, the A.D.C. production was a theatrical treat from curtain rise to curtain fall.

Commencing with the impressive Lord Chief Justice in the person of Mr. G. Gilmore, the germ of the idea of murder as a sensational art practised by the publicity mad of the community, was well given to the large audience. Then the action proper of the play commenced with the parlour setting, which remained throughout, and the amazingly conflicting characters surrounding the bad-tempered old lady of the house, Mrs. Bramson who lived with painful annoyance to everybody, including herself. This part was very capably portrayed by Ruby Mathieson whose talent was given ample scope, rising to great heights in the final hysterical scene where she suddenly finds herself deserted in a lonely house in the murder-haunted woods.

Of the other characters which make this production glow, first-class honours go to Fay Grossman for her clairvoyant depicting of the very part and practical Mrs. Terrence. When she put the "hatpins in her pre-war model of a hat at a critical period of the play she simply brought the house down. That is where this play succeeds so well; there is so much light and shade. Winnie Cox did well as the repressed Olivia Grayne, a difficult and complex part calling for restraint which was commendably answered in her acting. Mr. Jerry Marsh was the perfectly straight bore to a tee in the role of Hubert Laurie, and Sam Pringle comforted herself with telling stupidity as the indiscreet Dora Parkoe. Beth Smith-Wright made the very most of a very little as the nurse attending the imaginatively indisposed Mrs. Bramson.

True to type, Inspector Belstee really lived with Mr. J. Roberts in the part. He made only four entrances, but every one was excellently effective. Particularly his last entrance. That was a fine piece of restrained stage deportment.

BRITAIN AND U.S. AS ONE NATION

"Prophecy Of Great Pyramid"

Mr. David Davidson, addressing the seventeenth annual Congress of the British-Israel World Federation at the Central Hall, Westminster, recently made the following forecast of world events:

"The British Empire and the United States will be under a Theocratic Government by January 31, 1947."

"The aggressive nations" will, in the meantime, have destroyed their own ideals of rule by force states the "London Morning Post."

"In the dark days ahead," Mr. Davidson stated, "it will seem to many that our race may perish as a vital factor in the world. But God has placed this race on earth to guide it out of chaos."

Mr. Davidson, after emphasising that he never prophesied but merely translated and interpreted what he had been able to read in the prophecy of the Great Pyramid, continued:

"Have the same pride in your country as Rudyard Kipling had and the world will be a good place to live in."

DEATH OF BRITISH ADMIRAL

Link With Sail Days

The death took place on October 21 of Admiral Sir Herbert Goodenough King-Hall at his home in Sloane Gardens, London S.W. He was 74 years of age. He was the youngest son of the late Admiral Sir William King-Hall and brother of Admiral Sir George King-Hall (father of Commander Stephen King-Hall), who is 86.

Sir Herbert was born at Fulmouth in March, 1862. He was educated privately and on board the training ship Britannia. Joining the navy in 1875, he witnessed the transformation from wood to steel and from sail to steam. Most of the old wooden vessels had already gone, but heavy battleships still put to sea fully rigged, though it would have taken a hurricane to propel them under sail alone. In his first ship the Alexandra, he made the passage of the Dardanelles in 1878, when a British fleet went to protect Constantinople from the Russians. In 1881 on board the Sultan he took part in the bombardment of Alexandria, and also fought ashore during the suppression of the Egyptian rebellion.

While commanding the Magpie in 1884, he led an expedition up-country in Gambia, suppressed a serious rising, and was awarded the D.S.O. Next year he was promoted commander. A period as a member of the Naval Intelligence Department was followed in 1899 by his appointment as Naval Transport Officer in Natal during the South African War—a responsible post in view of the necessity for sending naval guns and supplies to equip Ladysmith for defence against the Boers. Receiving his captaincy in 1900, he was appointed A.D.C. to the King in 1908, and commanded the battle cruiser Indomitable when the Prince of Wales (afterwards King George) travelled to her to Canada. On his return he was made Director of Naval Mobilisation at the Admiralty, but in 1911 was at sea again as rear admiral in command of the Second Division of the Home Fleet.

When the Great War began he was Commander-in-Chief of the Cape Station, and it was he who directed the pursuit and destruction of the German cruiser Königsberg in her hiding-place in an East African river. He was knighted in 1916, promoted admiral in 1918, and given a command in home waters, but retired in 1922.

up of every performer. In this connection the face of Dan was a masterpiece.

BRITAIN'S TASK

Need To Preserve Our Freedom

Mr. Eden, the Foreign Secretary, speaking at the Cutlers' Feast at Sheffield recently stressed the advantages of British democracy and its task of bringing peace to the world, states the "Daily Telegraph."

There was in this country, he said, a general and widespread feeling of distaste for the extreme political doctrines preached and fostered in other countries.

"Accompanying this distaste for extremes," he said, "there has been borne in on us an increased appreciation of, and an increased attachment to, those free institutions which we have inherited from our fathers and which are the expression of British life and of British character."

"We have no wish to quarrel with others who have parted from our methods and have preferred to adopt different systems of Government. That is their own affair. But it is our affair, and very much our affair, that we should not part with our own methods or weaken in loyalty to our own institutions."

TOLERANCE AND STRENGTH

"In the midst of all the turmoil of present-day Europe we can be excused for observing with some pride that our own machinery of constitutional government continues to work smoothly and that freedom of person and of thought is respected and preserved."

"In a world in which national prestige is worshipped as a golden calf, I trust that we shall take as the standard of our own prestige as a nation our ability to combine tolerance and personal freedom with strong and effective government. Democracy comes near to dictatorship when the will of the majority is imposed in a spirit of intolerance on the minority."

"British democracy should see to it that the majority secures for the minority proper scope and conditions of life. So long as such a spirit prevails at home our national prestige abroad will remain high."

"We have to prove that, not only is life under a free constitution more pleasant than under any other system, but that it can retain its freshness and vigour. We have to show as great a readiness to serve the State when the State exists for the people exist for the State."

"There is one lesson we should learn from the tumultuous course of events in Europe, it is surely that the people of this country must exert every effort of mind and body to preserve the legacy of tradition and opportunity which has come down to them and strive with persistence and imagination for its wider and fuller development."

GOLDEN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. And Mrs. J. J. Chollot Of Shanghai

On October 29, a social event of quite unusual interest took place in the French community of Shanghai, states the "N. China Daily News."

It was the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Chollot, which coincided with the tenth wedding anniversary of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. X. Chollot.

Mr. J. M. X. Chollot is the South China branch manager of the International Savings Society, who flew to Shanghai on a C.N.A.C. plane on the 24th inst.

In the morning at 9 o'clock a Mass was celebrated at St. Peter's Church, and a family gathering was held at Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Chollot's residence, 85 Rue Marcel Tillet, at which were present Mr. P. Chollot, of the Fonclere et Immo-biliere de Chine, and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. X. Chollot and their two children, and Mr. L. Chollot of Racine & Co. and his wife and two children, bringing the number of members of the family present to twelve.

In the evening, a cocktail party at the Cercle Sportif from six to eight permitted the many French and foreign friends of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Chollot to offer them their congratulations.

Mr. J. J. Chollot, remembered by many old China hands, started his career in Shanghai in 1893 as engineer-in-chief of the French Municipal Council, a post which he ably filled for fourteen years. During this time he built the slaughter-house, the works for the distribution of water, and made the original cadastral plan and lay-out of the actual residential section of the French Concession.

HONG KONG RIFLE ASSOCIATION

New Records Created At Mid-Week Shoot

Fine Score By Sgt. M.C. Jones, 2/R.W.F.

At the usual Spoon and Practice Shoot held on the Army Ranges at Kowloon City yesterday afternoon, another "record" was created on this occasion by Sgt. M. C. Jones of the 2nd Bn. Royal Welch Fusiliers who scored an aggregate of 101 with totals of 34, 33 and 34 at 200, 500 and 800 yards respectively. A further "record" was made since as will be seen from the detailed scores given below, no less than seventeen members each had an aggregate of 90 or over, while the six higher scores were each above 94. The shooting yesterday therefore augurs well for the Colony's chances in the N.R.A. "Overseas" Match to be fired during the present year, more particularly so when it is remembered that several well-known shots were not present yesterday afternoon, for one reason or another.

The high scoring achieved yesterday was all the more remarkable in view of the heat, and glare on the targets, and there is therefore every reason to hope that if the elements are kind to the Association on the appointed day, the scores made in the Inter-Colonial Match above referred to, will show a distinct improvement upon last year's figures, and possibly place the Colony amongst the first half-dozen teams, and possibly at the top.

As regards the shooting with the rifle "as issued," Fusilier Richards again shot remarkably well, scoring an aggregate of 90 points which places him at the head of the list of the shooting with this type of rifle. Unfortunately, the spoons given for the S.R. (a) class are

FATAL ACCIDENT

A fatal accident occurred yesterday shortly before 5 p.m., when Yeung Choi, 30, died of injuries received when a beam fell on him whilst he was engaged in demolishing the roof of 47 Connaught Road, Central, occupied by the Kwong Hui Wo ship. Death was almost instantaneous.

It appears that a rotten beam gave way and fell to the floor, inflicting fatal injuries to the deceased, while another foki also engaged on the work escaped with injuries of a minor character.

GERMAN CONSUL ON VISIT

Kweilin, Nov. 4.
It is reported that the German Consul-General at Hankow arrived in Chung Chow by the Canton-Hankow Railway some ten days ago, and proceeded from thence to Kweilin City by motor car to enjoy the beautiful scenery and pay a visit to Generals Li Tsung-jen and Pei Chung-hai and other high officials of the Kwangsi Government for the purpose of cementing friendly relations between Germany and China.

At 8 o'clock this morning, a party consisting of ten persons paid a visit to the Sai Ting Shan, Chai Ha Monastery, "Seven Stars" Cave, Yuet Nge Shan, Dragon's Cave and other famous places of Kweilin.

At 5 o'clock in the evening, General Li Tsung-jen and Civil Governor Wang Kuk-cho supported by other high civil and military officials invited the party to a dinner at the Lok Kwan Ser.

FALL OF MADRID EXPECTED THIS WEEK ARTILLERY RANGED ON CAPITAL

Gunners Hesitate To Fire

Lisbon, November 3.
The insurgents do not appear to relax pressure in their advance on Madrid which is expected to fall before the end of the week. Insurgent artillery is ranged on the heart of the capital, though it is understood the gunners are hesitating to fire on Madrid for fear of damaging the historic buildings.

Planes flew over the capital dropping leaflets asking the inhabitants not to resist and directing them what to do when the insurgents enter the city. The Government claims, however, to have cleared the road to Aranjuez and that the insurgents made no advance on the Getafe front since yesterday.—Reuter's Bulletin Service.

INTENSIVE BOMBARDMENT

London, Nov. 4.
While the left wing of General Varela's insurgent army is attacking following an intensive bombardment in the direction of Carabanchel, ten miles from Madrid, Government forces launched a big offensive south of the capital with Getafe and Parla as the centre, preceded by a heavy Government air bombardment on insurgent columns and troop concentrations.

Insurgent planes carried out three daylight raids on Madrid, but apparently the damage was slight. The Government claim to have bombed two columns of motor lorries, the first at Parla on a two-kilometre length, and the second at Valdemora comprising seventy lorries, each carrying 40 to 50 men, and assert that they inflicted heavy casualties.—Reuter.

MANY REGIMES IN SPAIN

London, Nov. 4.
Seven Governments exist in Marxist Spain at the present moment, according to a list published in the "Echo de Paris," which names the following:—1. Marxist-Communist in Madrid; 2. Anarchist-Communist in Barcelona; 3. Anarchists and Peasants in Aragon; 4. Anarchist-Marxist in Santander; 5. Anarchist-Marxist in Valencia; 6. Marxist-Separatist in Bilbao; 7. Purely Communist in Malaga.—Transocean News Service.

NON-INTERVENTION COMMITTEE

London, Nov. 4.
A meeting is in progress at the Foreign Office this morning of the International Committee for application of agreement regarding non-intervention in Spain. Lord Plymouth presided.—British Wireless.

RED INFLUENCE IN ARAB STATES

Paris, Nov. 3.
Sensational revelations regarding Communist propaganda in Arab states are made in an article appearing in "Le Matin." The paper asserts that a special meeting of the "Arab Department" of the Communist Internationale took place in Moscow in the middle of October.

This meeting was attended by Bogdanoff, Minin, Madir, "The Syrian," Iben Brak, Hadaroff, Arturiz, and Isk ben Said and they are alleged to have prepared new directives for the intensification of Communist propaganda in the Arab states, and to ask their agents to co-operate more closely with the Arab Nationalists.

It was also decided to transfer the headquarters of the "Arab Bureau" from Athens to Beirut. The Director of the Soviet-Russian Trade Delegation, Juriff who in 1935 made a propaganda tour through the Arab states, according to "Le Matin" was given instructions to make a fresh tour, and to supply their agents with more funds. In order to camouflage the Communist intentions, Russia will establish a number of Trade Representative Departments in Syria, Palestine and Yemen.—Transocean News Service.

"CANNON FODDER" IN SPAIN

Warsaw, Nov. 3.
Excitement and concern were occasioned here by the announcement from Paris to the effect that Communist agitators working among Polish workers in France were recruiting them for "cannon fodder" in Spain.

Poles who had migrated to France during the years of prosperity and are now unemployed and living in misery, are stated to be the chief objects of these agitators who paint glowing pictures of Utopia in Spain.

The sum of 15,000 francs upon arrival at Barcelona, is offered and 55 francs a day as wages. It is however never paid over, and the young Poles are immediately placed in the front line. If they object to this treatment, it is claimed that they are immediately court-martialled and shot for insurrection and desertion.—Transocean News Service.

CABINET CHANGES IN AUSTRIA

Vienna, Nov. 3.
Dr. Kurt Schuschnigg has tendered his resignation from the Cabinet, and President Miklas has entrusted him with the formation of a new Cabinet.

The main changes will be that the three Heimwehr Ministers, Vice-Chancellor Baerenfels, the Minister of Finance, M. Draxler, and the Minister of Commerce, M. Stockinger, will be replaced by non-political personages, namely, Field Marshal Hugelgerth, hitherto Chief of Militia, M. Neumayer, Financial Counsellor for the City of Vienna, and Professor Taucher.

Herr Adolf Hitler's confidante in the new Cabinet, Dr. Edmund Glaise-Horstensau, formerly without portfolio, becomes Minister of the Interior. He has thus more opportunity to get in touch with Austrian Nazis.

Baron Neustadter Stuermer, a fierce personal enemy of Prince von Starhemberg, becomes Minister of Public Works at the special request of Signor Benito Mussolini.—Reuter.

BRITISH INTEREST IN FAR EAST

London, Nov. 3.
An assurance that the Government would watch with close interest the passage of events in the Far East, and lose no opportunity of assisting in any way a peaceful issue thereto, was given by Lord Halifax, Lord Privy Seal, in the course of the debate on the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne in the House of Lords to-day.—Reuter.

FRENCH LABOUR AGREEMENT

Examination Of Difficulties

Paris, Nov. 3.
Difficulties which are continually arising in the application of the recent Labour agreement, were discussed in an important conference by the Prime Minister, M. Leon Blum, and his Ministers of Defence, the Interior and Labour, and a Committee of the General Confederation of Labour to-day.

The object of the discussions was to ascertain what stage had been reached in discussions between the Confederation and employers' representatives.

The presence of the Minister of Defence was significant, indicating that the Government would continue to employ troops where necessary. Meanwhile, soldiers are delivering coal to the factories at Roubaix and elsewhere where the strike of coal delivery men continues.—Reuter.

CABINET TO DISCUSS

Paris, Nov. 3.
Difficulties which have arisen in the application of the recently concluded general labour agreement with regard to relations between employer and employees, were discussed by Premier Blum and the President of the Socialist Federation of Labour, Jouhaux, at a three hours conference which was also attended by members of the Cabinet.

At the conclusion of the conference it was announced that a Cabinet Council will be held on Wednesday at which the labour situation will be discussed, in order to investigate ways and means of adjusting the present difficulties in the application of the agreement.—Transocean News Service.

WOMAN ADDRESSES PARLIAMENT

London, Nov. 3.
For the first time in history, a woman was entrusted with the task of moving the official address in Parliament thanking His Majesty the King for his Speech from the Throne.

Miss Florence Horsburgh, Conservative Scottish M.P., performed the honour. She wore a brown evening dress and was remarkably self-composed.

Miss Horsburgh dealt in detail with the King's Speech and was warmly applauded, particularly when, speaking for the women of Britain, she said that if ever the time comes again when women will wait and men fight, one great suffering they demanded that they should not undergo, namely, that human lives should be sacrificed because preparation was neglected.—Reuter's Bulletin Service.

DEMONSTRATION IN BAGHDAD

Baghdad, Nov. 3.
In Baghdad to-day 50,000 people demonstrated in honour of the new Government.

Fervent speeches, lauding the new regime and decrying the past, were delivered, accompanied by the cracking of fireworks and the chanting of thousands of black-robed and veiled Arab women on the flat roof-tops.

The new Prime Minister, Hikmat Sulaiman, in a statement of policy, emphasised that he believed in the freedom of the press and the people, and promised to do everything possible to develop the nation's resources.—Reuter.

DEFENCES NOT ADEQUATE

Move For Debate In Commons

London, Nov. 3.
In order to secure a discussion on defence during the debate on the King's Speech, Mr. Winston Churchill, Mr. L. M. S. Amery, Sir Robert Horne and Captain Frederick Guest have tabled an amendment declaring that the strength of the national defences, especially the Air Force, is no longer adequate to secure peace and safety.

The amendment is a repetition of that moved by the same members two years ago. It is not intended to press it to a division.

War talk was deplored by Lord Halifax, Lord Privy Seal, in the course of the debate on the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne in the House of Lords, as being dangerous and undesirable, making peace efforts more difficult.

Lord Halifax declared that with general goodwill and determination for peace he was convinced that no difficulties would be insuperable in the pursuit of peace.

RELATIONS WITH ITALY

Dealing with Italy and the Mediterranean, Lord Halifax emphasised that there had never been, on the British side any Anglo-Italian differences. The difficulties were due to the attempt by Britain to discharge her international obligations. "As far as we are concerned," said Lord Halifax, "we are always ready to return to full relations of friendship with Italy, and, as far as we are concerned, I see no reason why it should not be possible to reach a complete understanding where misunderstanding exists in some quarters." History showed that Anglo-Italian interests in the Mediterranean were not divergent, and were complementary, and the greatest of those interests for both countries was peace.—Reuter.

ANGLO-IRISH TREATY

De Valera Still Not Satisfied

NEW CONSTITUTION

Dublin, Nov. 4.
The new Constitution for the Irish Free State was announced by the President of the Executive Council, de Valera, in a speech here on Tuesday evening, in the course of which he said:

"I regret to say that our relations with England have not improved. This is not my fault nor is it the fault of the Irish people. I refuse to recognise the Treaty of 1921, since I cannot see in it a basis affording a lasting peace."

De Valera went on to say that the new Constitution would be shaped in accordance with the wisdom of the Irish people and "as though England were millions of miles away."

After expressing the hope that this step would not give offence to the English nation, the speaker went on to say that in order to avoid confusion, the new Constitution—in the beginning—would only apply to internal affairs.—Transocean News Service.

CORONATION DURBAR

Interest In King's Visit To India

London, Nov. 4.
The announcement in the King's Speech from the Throne at the opening of the new session of Parliament yesterday that it was His Majesty's hope to revisit his Indian Dominions, has aroused widespread interest. No arrangements have yet been made for this Coronation Durbar.

Circumstances have changed considerably since King George in this way made known to the Princes and peoples of India his succession to the Imperial Crown and in view of present pressure of public business it is considered unlikely that the King's visit will include an extended tour in India. The visit will take place, after the Coronation, and December 1937 is considered to be some quarters as the probable date.—British Wireless.

U.S. SHIPPING STRIKE

Union Head Against The Movement

New York, Nov. 3.
Mr. David Grange, Third Vice-President of the International Seamen's Union announced to-day that his union was ready to put crews on all ships affected by the maritime strike. This man, leading a "rebel" faction in the union, declared he could promise his crews protection even if the leaders had to go to the extent of arming their men.

Mr. Joseph Curran, chairman of the Seamen's Defence Committee, and one of the strikers' chiefs, promptly replied to Mr. Grange: "I can foresee violence and plenty of it."

Mr. Grange alleges that the Seamen's Defence Committee terrorised seamen into joining the strike.

IDLE WORKERS

It is reported that 278 ships and 80,000 men have thus far been affected by the walk-out, while on the Pacific Coast between 8,000 and 10,000 saw mill and timber workers have been thrown into idleness as a result of the seamen's strike.

Honolulu is suffering considerable hardships owing to the strike having caused a shortage of food supplies. Governor Poindexter has sent a wireless message to Washington, laying stress upon the serious plight of 400 tourists stranded in the city, including many British subjects, and asks Administration officials to exert their best offices in order to secure relief for Hawaii.—Reuter.

REPRESENTATIONS IN BERLIN

German References To Britain

Berlin, Nov. 3.
Sir Eric Phipps, British Ambassador, called at the Foreign Office this morning. It is understood that he protested against unfavourable references to Britain in recent speeches by General Hermann Goerring, Premier of Prussia and Air Minister, and Dr. Josef Goebbels, Minister of Propaganda. The Ambassador stated that Britain could not accept the implications that she was in any way responsible for German economic hardships.—Reuter's Bulletin Service.

PRESIDENT LIN SEN ORDERED TO REST

Shanghai, Nov. 4.
President Lin Sen arrived at Chan Yu Station at 8 a.m., and was welcomed by General Yang Fu and others. An escort of troops and a military band were also in attendance.

Accompanied by General Yang Fu, the President left immediately for the late Marshal Tuan Ki-jui's private residence to offer sympathy to the members of the family in their recent bereavement.

Not feeling in the best of health, President Lin Sen left for the Euro-Chinese Nursing Home at 9.40 a.m. to be medically examined by the doctors.

It was reported that President Li Sen was suffering from weakness due to over-exhaustion and that he only needed rest and quietude for the complete restoration of his health.—Chinese Evening Press.

FINANCIERS IN LONDON

Re-election Taken Very Calmly

VIEWS ON FUTURE OF SILVER

London, Nov. 4.
The city is taking Mr. Roosevelt's re-election in a most calm manner with the size of the majority as the only surprise.

Yesterday's burst of misinformed bull speculation was followed by the natural reaction of most leaders being marked down pending Wall Street opening, which is expected to be at somewhat low rates.

American brokers in London generally anticipate a quieter and perhaps duller Wall Street for some weeks with utilities, especially pressed owing to Mr. Roosevelt's apparently constitutional dislike for them, but point out that the fundamentals of the remainder of the market will be unchanged with no immediate large fall expected, since no large bull account was built up on the chance of Mr. Landon's election.

It is admitted, however, that Wall Street is due for the usual technical reaction, quite apart from politics.

Bullion circles are inclined to view the outlook for silver optimistically as Mr. Roosevelt is likely to continue the silver purchasing policy, though some point out that his personal dislike of the policy might tempt him to make modifications with a view to independence from silver interests following an enormous majority.—Reuter.

DECORATION OF BOND-STREET

Woman Wins 'Coronation Prize'

A young woman architectural student has won the prize in a competition for plans for the decoration of Bond-street during the Coronation festivities. She is Mrs. Richard Acland, wife of the M.P. for Barnstaple. She triumphed over 150 men and two women students, states "The Daily Mail."

"The design took me a fortnight, working very hard," she said recently. "They were my first ideas, which seemed to come to me naturally. I did not have to reject a number of schemes."

"I have been a student of the Architectural Association for three years, and I hope in another two years to start in practice on my own."

"The scheme will consist of a series of white banners strung on wires between the parapets of the buildings at 30ft. intervals. In the banners will be the King's arms, carried out in the various colours."

"At the ends of the street will be masts carrying heraldic devices."

Mrs. Acland wins a prize of £30 and the usual architect's fee of 6 per cent of the total cost of the decorations.

ITALY AND THE LEAGUE

Press Announces A Break

Rome, Nov. 3.
Italy has left the League of Nations. She will not return there," states the semi-official "Giornale d'Italia" in an evidently inspired article on the general political situation in Europe, as it presents itself to the Italian viewpoint.

With the League of Nations—the article points out—shapeless formulas have been eliminated which were to be realised in a system of collective security suggested by France and the indivisible peace proposed by that country's friend, Soviet Russia.

The rejection of these formulas by Italy is complete and definite, since France and Soviet-Russia, were the first to adjust their own invention. France armed herself to the teeth on the very day when she began to speak of collective security.

She did not cease to accumulate more or less secret military and political pacts. All these pacts had nothing to do with collective security, states the "Giornale d'Italia" and merely created party groups based on the alleged European antitheses.

Soviet Russia, while raising the olive twig, spoke "with an angel's voice of indivisible peace," yet she sent out her emissaries into the world to pitch the flame of civil war in foreign countries.

"The 'Giornale d'Italia' in summing up the situation states that it would appear as if the League of Nations worked for the 'disunion of nations.' It promoted war rather than peace. The failure of the League policy was responsible for the present Italian attitude towards this well-meaning institution.—Transocean News Service.

SOVEREIGNS FOR CORONATION YEAR

As Mementoes

"The Evening News" understands that sovereigns will be included in the King Edward VIII coinage to be struck next year.

Whether or not they will be issued as current coins of the realm has yet to be decided.

It is generally expected, however, that the sovereigns will be struck only as mementoes of Coronation Year and that they will be issued at a price to cover the cost of the gold in the coin—probably from 33s. to 35s.

DIRECTION OF THE HEAD

It is the custom for each succeeding monarch to change the direction of the head on the coinage of his reign. If the King conforms with custom the head on the new sovereign will turn to the right.

This question has not yet been settled and will depend entirely upon the decision of the King.

ASSOCIATION

Football League's Victory

With some of the best football played by English players for a long time, the Football League beat the Scottish League by two clear goals at Goodison Park, Everton, on October 20, states "The Times." The Irish and Scottish Leagues each having won a match, the victory of the Football League brought the Inter-League Championship for the season to a triple tie. Last year the Scottish League, with three points, were the champions.

The English forwards, with Dean exceptionally quick on the ball, proved too good for the Scottish backs. Dean's colleagues, played up to him in fine style and the centre-forward was always threatening danger. Crooks, splendidly partnered by Richardson and prompted admirably by Britton, was opposed to Brown, perhaps the best half-back of the match, but for all that the Derby winger was an outstanding success. On the opposite flank Bastin was excellent in patches. Forced to keep close to the touch-line because of Westwood's dribbling, the Arsenal man resorted to centring instead of cutting in. Westwood schemed cleverly and equalled Dean in shooting.

HARD TACKLING
Male's fierce tackling and the determination of Catlin to give the Scottish right wing no scope made the Football League defence very formidable. Britton, Gee, and Keen were a useful set of halves, Keen being so quick in intercepting passes that the Scottish inside forwards rarely advanced a dozen yards in a combined move. Dawson was an exception to the general mediocrity of the Scottish side. Despite being kept in suspense by the inability of Anderson and Shaw to hold the opposing forwards Dawson kept goal magnificently, his skillful anticipation helping him out of many nasty situations. Brown was the next best player on the Scottish side. He captained the team in the absence of Simpson and did twice the amount of work he would ordinarily have been called on to do.

The Scottish forwards started with some neat close passing, but once the English half-backs had found their feet the game went in favour of the home side. Westwood worked his way through and centred for Dean to head the ball into Dawson's hands. Later when Bastin crossed the ball Dean headed hard only inches wide of the post. The first goal came after a quarter of an hour, an infringement by the Scots resulting in a penalty, from which Bastin, with a hard drive, gave Dawson no chance. One of the best movements from the Scottish League followed. Keeping the ball close, Walker, Armstrong, and McPhail took it down in fine style. McPhail ended the attack with a grand shot, but Holdercroft jumped across the goal and fisted the ball clear over the heads of the oncoming Scottish forwards. The second goal came eight minutes before half-time. Bastin ended a run with a short square centre; Westwood trapped the ball, and, running across to inside-right, shot a brilliant goal.

SALVATION ARMY

General Evangeline Booth announced recently that the Salvation Army is extending its operations to the Philippine Islands.

The second half showed Dawson at his best. He stopped a terrific shot from Richardson, and later, when Crooks sent in a hot drive, Dawson managed to scoop the ball out. He saved his side from a much heavier defeat.

The teams were:—
FOOTBALL LEAGUE—Holdercroft (Preston North End), goal; Maile (Arsenal), (captain) and Catlin (Sheffield Wednesday), backs; Britton (Everton), Gee (Everton), and Keen (Derby County), half-backs; Crooks (Derby County), Richardson, J. (Huddersfield Town), Dean (Everton), Westwood (Bolton Wanderers), and Bastin (Arsenal), forwards.

SCOTTISH LEAGUE—Dawson (Glasgow Rangers), goal; Anderson (Heart of Midlothian), half-back; Shaw (Airdrieonians), back; Goss (Celtic), Smith (Kilmarnock), and Brown (Glasgow Rangers), (captain), half-backs; Delaney (Celtic), Walker (Heart of Midlothian), Armstrong (Aberdeen), McPhail (Glasgow Rangers), and Kinneir (Glasgow Rangers), forwards. Referee: H. N. Mee (Mansfield).

KOTEWALL CUP
FOOTBALLArmy Beat Navy In Fine MatchTWO PLAYERS
INJURED

Displaying definitely superior combination, the Army defeated the Royal Navy by three goals to one in the first match of the Kotewall Cup football match series yesterday afternoon at Caroline Hill. The Army dominated play in the first half and at the interval held a lead of clear goals to nil.

In the second half the Navy rallied wonderfully and but for too much individualistic play on the part of their forwards might have found the mark more often than just once.

During the latter stages of the game, Hartigan, the Army left wing, left the field with an injured right knee. He was attended to and returned to play but after a short while retired for good. Swain, the Interport and Army right back, came into collision with a Navy forward, and in making a sharp turn fell and twisted his right ankle. He had to be carried off the field and had his ankle bandaged. He returned to play after this was done.

The match was broadcast by Mr. Frank Read, Government official radio commentator.

ARMY ATTACK EARLY

The Army kicked off facing the sun and were early attacking, the Navy goalkeeper, Hurved, being very unsure with his gathering and holding of the ball. A ground shot by Hartigan was saved and play was transferred to the other end where Stone sent a hot shot over the crossbar. The Army retaliated and Howlett got his head to a high shot from Erwin and sent the ball past Hurved to give the Army an early lead. Shortly after Talbot scored following a corner kick. Evans dribbled through prettily but failed with his final effort. Gaining possession of the ball Duffield transferred it to Howlett who found the net to give the Army their third goal. The Navy, undaunted, attacked the soldiers' citadel and a strong shot by Wride struck the corner of the upright and rebounded into play.

HARTIGAN RETIRES

Midway through the second half Hartigan, who had been playing a splendid game on the left wing, was seen to leave the field limping. With only ten men, the Army successfully held their own. The Navy brightened up their play considerably but their forwards failed to combine, each player including in too much individual play.

Following a concerted attack by the Senior Service, Rowlands failed to hold a shot from Wride and Tipsett rushed in to send the ball in to the net. Towards the end the sailors pressed heavily but they were faulty when in front of goal being wide with efforts which, if they had taken just a little more time about, might have had considerable more advantage in the long run.

Swain came into collision and twisted his ankle and the Army were thus reduced to nine men for a while until Swain was able to return to his position in the defence. Handicapped as they were, the Army were once again to the fore and Hurved had a 'busy time. Howlett, on one occasion, had only the goalkeeper to beat but he failed with a feeble effort.

The closing minutes saw the Navy pressing and Rowlands brought off a wonderful save when he turned a fast rising shot from Wride over the bar.

CAMPELL SHINES

Outstanding for the Army was Campbell, in the pivotal position, who was well supported by Taylor and Evans while Swain and Steele were stalwarts in the last line of defence. Talbot did good work in attack as did Duffield and Hartigan.

The Navy were best served by Wride, Wolferson, Bowers and Stone, who sent in several good passes from the right wing.

The teams were:—
ARMY—Rowlands; Swain, Steele; Taylor, Campbell, Evans; Erwin, Duffield, Howlett, Talbot and Hartigan.

NAVY—Hurved; Harris, Wolferson; Bowers, Hutchby, Gardner; Stone, Duff Johnson, Wride and Tipsett.

Referee:—D. Kossick; Linesmen—W. Reynolds and E.E. Randall. Among those present to witness the game were: E.E. the G.O.C., Major-General A.W. Bartholomew, Brigadier Seth-Smith, Col. H.C.

SPECIALISED
CONTROLNeed For Big
Football

You would think that no set of people would have their fingers more closely on the pulse of football than the men who are on the Council of the Football Association. They are the supreme authority in the game. Their job it is to rule and govern all English football clubs of every grade, all football officials and players, even all football spectators, states "The Major" in a home paper.

You may not know it, but no sooner do you step on any football ground in this country than you are under the jurisdiction of the Football Association and subject to laws and by laws of that Association.

The trend of recent events, however, suggests that quite a number of Football Association councillors are rather out of touch with the sort of football which is the great interest of a vast number of people in the country and which, through the years, has provided the Football Association with the wealth now reposing in the coffers at Lancaster Gate or elsewhere.

In several ways this has been shown. There was, for instance, that pious hope that the big professional clubs would soon start playing attacking football, and have done with the defensive centre-half. There was also those misconstrued instructions to referees. There is the fresh evidence that the F.A. are no nearer to finding the foundation of a successful international side.

These things are tending to weaken public confidence in the F.A. No wonder there is the expectation of big reforms. More and more professional football becomes very obviously in need of specialised government, not at the hands of gentlemen who are very much wrapped up in amateur football.

GOLF CLUB
"AT HOME"Successful Function
On SundayNEW SCHEME OF INCORPORATION

An enjoyable afternoon was spent last Sunday by members of the Country Club, when they were "At Home" to a host of friends. Opportunity was also taken to distribute the prizes won during the season, which was voted a most sporting one.

THE ADDRESS

In the absence of the president, Mr. F. E. A. Remedios, addressed the gathering in part as follows:

We are an International Club composed of 66 members and 20 subscribers, so that you will see that greatness of number is not our strong point. The remarkable feature of our membership is that everyone knows everybody else, and each one bears for the other the best of goodwill and friendship. As a proof of this, I could say that on the fairways we often exceed our rights and as often overlook our duty to replace divots etc., but somehow or other we always manage to avoid undue complaints and disputes. This, I feel certain, is attributable to the spirit of comradeship which Golf engenders, and which has characterised all our activities.

COURSE THE SAME

Of our Golf course, it is a matter of misfortune that I must confess that it is in very much the same condition as it was a few years ago, and it may also be said that the dimensions of our Clubhouse have not changed since it was built. This, Ladies and Gentlemen, is the sad part of my story to-day. I am not suggesting that we have not been solicitous about these matters, for, indeed, at one time or another we have wished for a better course to play on, and likewise have felt the need of extending the Clubhouse; but I cannot help expressing the opinion that we have not translated these wishes into organised efforts.

NEW SCHEME

At the present moment, Ladies and Gentlemen, we have a scheme on hand to incorporate our Club, and we have promises that when this has been accomplished the wherewithal will be supplied for extending our Clubhouse and for providing it with the amenities we have so long wished for. I earnestly hope that when this has been achieved, we shall turn our attention to providing the Course with grass greens and demarcating our fairways with trees. Few, very few of us, realise how easily this could be done. We have only to put our hands in our pockets, and even if we do not dig very deep, it will not take a long time to make our Course a really interesting one on which to spend our week-ends.

PRIZE DISTRIBUTION

Mrs. Remedios then distributed the awards as follows:
Club Championship: A. Urquhart, (Runner up) A. A. Lopez.
Junior Championship: M. A. Simoes, (Runner up) Dr. R. A. Basto.

Ladies Championship: Mrs. F. E. A. Remedios, (Runner up) Miss Grace Ablog.
Captain's Cup: A. J. Kew, (Runner up) E. Sadler.
Hope Cup: Mrs. A. E. H. Castro, (Runner up) Mrs. B. Basto.
Mixed Foursome: Mrs. A. J. Kew and J. J. Basto, (Runners up) Mrs. Leo Da'Imada e Castro (Jr.) and F. E. A. Remedios.

LILY LANGTRY'S
GRANDDAUGHTER

Engagement Announced

The engagement was announced recently of Sir Basil Bartlett, of 24, Fitzroy-square, W., and Miss Mary Malcolm, of Portlough, Argyllshire. Sir Basil, who succeeded his grandfather, Sir Herbert Henry Bartlett, the first baronet, in 1921, was educated at Repton and Corpus Christi College, Cambridge. He is 31, and in 1930 gave up a diplomatic career for the stage.

Miss Malcolm, who is 18, is a debutante of this year, and was presented at one of the garden party courts at Buckingham Palace during the summer. She is a granddaughter, on the maternal side, of the late Lady de Bathe, better known as Miss Lily Langtry, the actress.

BRITAIN MISSING OPPORTUNITIES Trade Conditions In The Far East "JAPAN'S PENETRATION"

By Major The Hon. L. H. Cripps, C.B.E., of Messrs. Alfred Holt & Co., Liverpool (writing in the British Chamber of Commerce Journal).

Germany has only a limited amount of credit and China alone could absorb five or six times the amount of German credit available. Nobody has ever made money without risking the loss of it and few people would suggest that the hundreds of millions said to have been lost in the export trade in the past which in fact, has been lost by individuals, has not been of great benefit and great profit to the people of Britain. At the same time, the individual will not bankrupt himself on behalf of the nation, whereas it may be the duty of the Government to assist individuals to compete against the arrangements of foreign governments. If we are not prepared to meet foreign methods of competition, we shall not only lose business but at the same time we shall lose the resulting capacity to import, which would end in the bankruptcy both of the individual and of the country.

JAPANESE SUPPLY

Japan is another Eastern country on which British industry has been forced latterly to focus its attention. She is a typical industrial country with efficient and economic methods of manufacture. It is inevitable that she will ultimately supply the Eastern markets with textiles, earthenware, cotton goods, bicycles, electric cables, electric lights, galvanized iron and general household commodities. Doubtless she will also develop the heavy industries. But her prosperity must depend largely on the stability of China. Arising from Japan's treatment, a distaste for Japanese goods is at present observable in China. In the meantime, she is penetrating other markets of the world, but, fortunately for England, her consuming power of foreign goods, other than raw materials, is not very great, and the credits of foreigners in Japan are small, which limits the amounts of goods which Japan can export.

INCREASING HER CREDITS

Japan is concentrating on increasing her credits in shipping and insurance, which will naturally improve her exporting capacity by a further collection of foreign currency. But such methods are likely to follow the trend of world trade, and can in no way compensate Japan for the loss of the Chinese market, which is absolutely vital to Japanese industry. Over the last thirty years Japan has developed a system of heavy import duties, and, in some cases, complete exclusion, and it is only natural that the rest of the world will follow Japan's example just so soon as she attempts to force her exports on a country or Continent which prefers to supply her own needs, as Japan has done in the past.

Free trade in exports can only operate provided that there is free trade in imports. Such conditions presuppose a currency based on supply and demand and not a managed currency. One half of every transaction in import or export is based on currencies, and free trade can only function provided those currencies are based on their supply and demand value in international trade; otherwise, by a careful manipulation of currency, one country may be ruined by another. At present Japan is not prepared to recognize these first principles and must, therefore, meet with import duties, quotas or complete exclusion. No doubt experience will teach her that free trade implies the willing interchange of goods and not, as she appears to think, the collection of foreign currencies by exports while refusing imports.

TALK ABOUT WAR

Anxiety Expressed By Lord Halifax

London, Nov. 3.

Replying to the debate on the address in reply to the King's speech at the opening of the new session of Parliament, in the House of Lords this evening, Lord Halifax referred to the general anxiety regarding the international situation.

They had heard in many quarters, a great deal of talk about war. He wished on behalf of the Government to say quite frankly, such talk was both dangerous and point out that any forecast which is made of the future can only be made subject to the political actions, not only of the countries concerned, but of the rest of the world. There is a rapidly growing tendency throughout the world for governments to control the import and export trade, as is done at present in Germany, Italy, Russia and Japan. In most cases this results in control of imports and subsidization of exports, which does, in fact, unbalance the trade of countries operating on the old basis (i.e., a system where the exporter is responsible for selling, and the importer for buying goods), as it tends to destroy the exporter who is in opposition to Governmentally subsidized tenders. It is just this tendency which must force us in the long run to consider whether we should follow this modern symptom or whether we should give up our foreign markets and confine ourselves to our inter-colonial trade. At present our consuming power of surplus foreign crops would give us a pre-eminent position in any international barter trade. Practically no great agricultural country could afford to lose our market and would, in the long run, be forced to accept our manufactured goods in exchange for their surplus agricultural produce, which would otherwise remain unsold under the existing conditions of other countries remaining or attempting to become self-supporting. The imposition of import duties must, in the long run, destroy the power to export and tend to reduce world trade and dislocate manufacturing centres in some countries by forcing the agricultural areas to make what they really need, as they are prevented from exchanging their surpluses by import restrictions put into operation by their old clients.

By peaceful penetration into the Philippines in exactly the same way as in the Netherlands East Indies, Japan has instituted a trade which is almost unassailable. She has established innumerable retail shops, which represent direct supply from factory to consumer, through a very large number of Japanese retailers, thus confining their purchases to Japan. They exist in every town, and in practically every village, in the Philippines.

In the Straits Settlements, the improvement in the rubber and tin industries and the very large increase in European population has expanded the market of Malaya in every direction, and is bringing prosperity to the Straits. The rise in population has resulted from the increase in defensive forces, and the constructional work necessary for these forces to carry out their duties. The market is very largely selling to the Empire under the Ottawa scheme. The credits in England are being used for day to day purchases; Malaya must remain a good customer of England and the trade with England should show steady expansion. A good deal of raw material, especially ropra, is being diverted to India, which will lead to an expansion of the trade between Malaya and India.

DUTCH EAST INDIES

The Dutch East Indies is one of the few countries in the world which have played the "gold game": that is, they have made a real attempt under the old gold standard system to deflate their currency so that "vis-a-vis" sterling, it may come into balance. In my view, that balance, say G.750 to the £1, should become effective early in 1937, and as soon as deflation is operative, trade with Europe should extend substantially.

Her trade with Asia is balanced, while her exports to Europe are more than twice her imports from Europe. Any improvement due to currency deflation should tend to balance trade with Europe. There are no signs that Asia will be able to extend her imports from Java materially, and this must of necessity limit Asian exports to Java.

The old gold standard system can only be used in countries where labour is unorganized, as is the case in the Netherlands East Indies. Deflation, as we know it, consists chiefly of reducing wages. In due course, this reduces the cost of exports in the country concerned and makes them more attractive to the rest of the world. In those countries where labour has been organized over the last fifty years it has become impossible to make the necessary wage reductions, and attempts at deflation have resulted in widespread unemployment. This has been adjusted by the creation of artificial work to improve employment, thereby deliberately defeating the attempt at deflation.

IMPROVEMENT IN CONDITIONS
My own view is that the Netherlands East Indies will, over the next eighteen months, be responsible for substantial improvement in world conditions, through its rehabilitation in world markets and its capacity to operate on a sterling basis. I must undesirable. If the world had learnt nothing else, it was surely that there would be no victors or vanquished and both would suffer a common calamity. The situation was certainly difficult but by no means desperate.

If there were goodwill and determination towards peace generally—if that were present in the minds and hearts of all the nations—difficulties should not prove insuperable in the pursuit of peace. He hoped it would be possible at an early date to reach an understanding on the basis of the traditional relations with Italy, and to remove the misunderstandings which existed. British Wireless.

ROOSEVELT RE-ELECTED

MORNING TABULATION

New York, Nov. 4. Twenty-two million votes tabulated at 3 a.m. show nearly fourteen million for Mr. Roosevelt, over eight million for Mr. Landon and a quarter million for Mr. Lemke.

Mr. Roosevelt is leading Mr. Landon by a million votes in New York State. The total poll in New York City gave Mr. Roosevelt two million and Mr. Landon 880,000. Mr. Landon is assured of Maine and Vermont and had a slight lead in New Hampshire. Mr. Roosevelt is leading his rival by over half million votes in Pennsylvania and also slightly leading in Kansas.

The latest returns of Congress elections show: House of Representatives, Democrats 164 and Republicans 28; Senate, Democrats 14 and Republicans one.

Governor Lehmann is already conceded as elected in New York by the Republican opponent.

Leiter.

VICTORY CAKE UNCUT

New York, Nov. 4. Unlike Mr. Roosevelt who was defeated in his home district, Hyde Park, Mr. Landon carried his birthplace, West Middlesex, Pennsylvania, by 305 to 280 votes, but in Topeka, Kansas, the Landon family's victory cake remained uncut at the Governor's mansion.

CHEERING CROWD

Mr. Roosevelt, addressing a cheering crowd from the porch of his mother's home in Hyde Park, said: "It looks as if we are going to have one of the largest political sweeps in the history of the United States."

Scenes of rejoicing occurred in New York as the overwhelming nature of Mr. Roosevelt's victory became clear. It is estimated that a million citizens thronged Broadway at midnight.

FEW INCIDENTS

There were no disturbances and no ambulance calls. The election was on the whole orderly throughout the country, although there were a few incidents.

Shots were fired in a courthouse at Ironton, Ohio, and one man was killed. An intoxicated voter was shot dead by a policeman. A Kentucky election official was seriously injured at Whitesburg, Kentucky. A negro was killed in an election brawl at Boonville, Indiana.

ALL TIME RECORD

New York, Nov. 4. Mr. Roosevelt is heading for an all-time record. Now he has won New Hampshire leaving Vermont and Maine, the only states won for Mr. Landon at the Electoral College. Therefore Mr. Roosevelt has 523 and Mr. Landon eight.

Mr. Landon's total is the lowest ever except in the three-cornered contest of 1912 between Mr. Wilson, Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Taft when the last named received only eight.

Reuter.

CONGRESSIONAL ELECTIONS

Returns of the Congressional elections indicated that the Democratic membership of the Senate exceed the record total of seventy at the last Congress.

The House of Representatives Democrats have so far captured twelve Republican seats. The re-elected include the House of Representatives' Speaker, Mr. Bankhead, and the Republican leader, Mr. Snell.

Among the Senatorial personalities are Mr. Borah, who is leading easily in Idaho.

The popular vote so far counted in the Presidential election is Mr. Roosevelt sixteen million, and Mr. Landon ten million.

"TIMES" ANNOUNCEMENT

New York, Nov. 3. The "New York Times" declares that Mr. Roosevelt has been re-elected.

The "New York Times" at 10.45 p.m. flashed the announcement that Mr. Roosevelt had been re-elected on a huge screen in Times Square. A terrific roar of applause arose from the throng of 300,000 people, which was repeated when a giant portrait of Mr. Roosevelt appeared on the screen.

ADMIRAL'S CAREER

Admiral Harry Ervin Yarnell was born at Independence, Ohio, on October 18, 1875, and graduated from the United States Naval Academy in 1897, and from the Naval War College in 1915.

He was promoted to Rear-Admiral on August 17, 1922.

During the Spanish-American War he served on the U.S.S. Oregon, and also served in the Philippine Insurrection and the Boxer Rebellion on the U.S.S. Yorktown.

After serving under Admiral Sims in the World War, he was promoted to Commander of the Aircraft Squadrons, Battle Fleet, from 1931 to 1933.

His previous command was at Pearl Harbour Naval Station, which he took over in 1933.

Making his home in Washington, D. C., he leaves his wife and two children, Mrs. John Sylvester, and Philip there.

It is not certain whether Mrs. Yarnell will join the Admiral in China.

SHIPS LEAVE

U.S.S. Canopus, U.S.S. Pigeon, salvage vessel, and six submarines, S-36, S-37, S-38, S-39, S-40, and S-41, of the Fifth Submarine Squadron left port yesterday, for the Philippine Islands.

RECEPTIONS PLANNED

Many receptions are planned during Admiral Yarnell's visit here. The American Consul General, Mr. Charles L. Hoover, will be the host at receptions given in the Admiral's honour one of which will be in the form of a soiree buffet to be held at "On Lee". The last will be on November 7 when Mr. Hoover will give a formal dinner to Admiral Yarnell.

The usual receptions accorded to foreign sailors arriving in port will be given the American sailors during their stay here, but no plans have, as yet, been made.

However, shore patrol and liberty parties have been arranged.

FRENCH ADMIRAL

The visit of Admiral Esteva, commanding the French Naval Forces in the Far East, to Hong Kong is officially announced by the French Consul here. The Admiral will arrive on his flagship, the "Lamotte-Picquet" to-morrow. The Japanese Gunboat "Saga" is expected in the Colony, from Canton, to-morrow.

TRAFFIC MISHAP

Mr. G. S. Graver, of the Public Works Department, reports that at 8.30 a.m., while driving his car along Caine Road from west to east he knocked down a Chinese schoolgirl.

The accident occurred near Peel Street when the girl suddenly ran across the front of the car. She received slight injuries. He also states that the girl was accompanied by an amah who immediately took the girl away without giving her name or address.

HANDBAG FOUND

A handbag, with watch attached, the property of Mrs. Farmer of 5A Pratt Building, Kowloon, has been recovered by the police.

The handbag, valued at $39, was reported to have been lost last Saturday.

says: "Early returns from the whole country indicate a victory of landslide proportions for Mr. Roosevelt."

Developing Trade With China

OPPORTUNITIES IN CHINA

Mr. Kirkpatrick will be concerned solely with the financial and economic merits of proposals for the export of United Kingdom goods and will not seek orders. "The scheme is operated on a strictly commercial basis and does not represent a subsidy to British trade. There is no truth in the suggestion that we are going to make a loan to the Chinese Government; we are not. Our job is, simply to give guarantees to British manufacturers."

"By this appointment we seek to equip ourselves a little better to secure for home manufacturers a bigger share of the Chinese trade, which, due to the tremendous industrial development there and the more stable conditions of the past two years, has great potentialities. Conditions may become unstable again, but we are prepared to take a risk up to a certain point."

"There is a big demand for plant and machinery, and to a great extent this is being satisfied by foreign countries. Mr. Kirkpatrick will work in close co-operation with Mr. Louis Beale, the Commercial Counsellor at the British Embassy in Shanghai."

MR. KIRKPATRICK INTERVIEWED

The possibility of increasing trade between Lancashire and China was discussed by Mr. Kirkpatrick in an interview with a "Manchester Guardian" reporter recently.

"Lancashire," said Mr. Kirkpatrick, "has had a long connection with China, but latterly has lost a great deal of her business. Although city houses have their own contacts with established firms in China, I can see that there are possibilities of new contacts with firms to whom they have not shipped before. Shippers might be able to convince the Export Credits Guarantee Department that these firms were creditworthy."

"China has made rapid progress and there should be new markets not only for cotton goods but still more for heavy goods—the equipment for public utilities—which is an important trade for Lancashire. There has been an enormous expansion in transport in China with a consequent demand for railways and motor-cars. Chinese firms have perhaps found it easier to do such business with American or German firms hitherto, but we are clear that there is a great deal of business being offered, and on the balance it seems worth while for Britain to find out whether the business is creditworthy."

Mr. Kirkpatrick considered that the appointment of a representative of the Export Credits Guarantee Department was a friendly gesture to China and in no way antagonistic to Japan, for there was room for all.

RESULT OF RECENT VISIT

Sir Kenneth D. Stewart, chairman of the China and Far East section of the Manchester Chamber of Commerce, said in reference to Mr. Kirkpatrick's appointment, that this move of the Export Credits Guarantee Department was probably the result of the recent visit to China of Sir Frederick Leith-Ross, the chief economic adviser to the British Government.

A number of foreign countries, and particularly Germany, said Sir Kenneth, had been taking a great deal of interest in the export to China of capital goods, and the British Government was apparently now making an effort to benefit from any expansion in the Chinese trade that there might be. As far as Lancashire was concerned, the engineering and locomotive industry would probably be better able to benefit than textiles, for the Chinese demand appeared to be more for capital goods than consumption goods. But it was not easy to forecast developments, and although up to now the credits for the Manchester textile trade had been more or less sufficient, the presence in China of a representative of the Export Credits Guarantee Department might be of benefit.

Mr. Kirkpatrick, who is 57 years of age, has spent a great deal of his business life in India, where for many years he was an importer of British textile. He has conducted a number of important commercial missions, particularly in the Far East. In 1933 he was in Chile conducting financial negotiations on behalf of London bankers connected with the nitrate industry.
